Projects for the Elderly Are Designed to Assure Motion, Both Physical and Mental

"They were shunted into the back room for so many years, they've become narrow and have a way of not participating in things, but elderly people should think of the long life as a good life, and begin to say 'What can I do for others?' not just 'How about me?'"

Virginia Armstrong sometimes gives a speech like that to the seniors in the YWCA's Friday Club—due to begin its fall season of activities this Friday with a 12:30 box-lunch at the Princeton Public Library—but the philosophy applies as well to all the other senior citizen activities around Princeton.

One of the newest projects is just beginning, under a $4500 grant to the Borough Housing Authority from the Office on Aging of the state's Department of Community Affairs, augmented by $1,500 from the Borough.

The idea is to utilize more fully the community room in the Lloyd Terrace housing-for-the-elderly project on Harrison Street. But you don't have to live in Lloyd Terrace to join: activities, as they develop, are open to all senior citizens in Princeton.

In fact, if you are a senior citizen, the project's director, Mrs. Jocelyn

Helm, is eager to know exactly what kind of thing you'd like to do. About 20 people—including two men—attended an opening session last Friday in the community room to talk it over.

Promptly, 13 of those present signed up for a "movement" class which Mrs. Helm will run. She's a teacher of physical education and dance, and a specialist in geriatric dance therapy and movement.

"I believe in active leisure for the elderly," she says. "When you stop moving, everything slows—your heart, your muscles, everything. But when you keep moving, you slow down the aging process itself!"

She demonstrated what she meant to Friday's audience. Sitting in chairs—no need for strenuous motion—you do exercises to get the creaks and kinks out of spine and shoulders, and then breathing exercises.

"It's amazing how many joints you can move, sitting in a chair," Mrs. Helm has found. "This is a gentle kind of movement. Most older people haven't been active, and need a gentle introduction. We'll be using rubber balls, wands and sometimes music from a record player. Anybody have a record player we can use?"

Describing her system, Mrs. Helm used the words "experiential movement," which most of her listeners had never heard before.

"I told them it meant exploring and discovering the space around them. Well, later a woman showed me a poem she had written, a wry and witty thing in which she wrote that, as an elderly person, she might well be discovering the space around her fairly soon."

Everyone liked the idea of an evening of games in the Lloyd community room. Crossword puzzles, checkers, cribbage, the ubiquitous bingo. And one woman eagerly voted for chess: she's never been able to find anyone to play it with her.

Central Business District Plan Moves Ahead As Planning Board Approves Zoning Change

Maybe not a giant step for mankind, but a significant one for the heart of Princeton: the Planning Board Tuesday night unanimously approved Borough Council's proposed ordinance changing the R02 zone around the Playhouse, the Princeton Public Library and their parking lots, to a Central Business CB zone.
"This is the first step in bringing the Borough zoning ordinance into conformity with the CBD plan adopted July 17," declared Planning Board vice-chairman Norman Williams, adding that the Planning Board "strongly favors" final passage of the ordinance by Council next Tuesday.

The change means that retail enterprise is now allowed in the zone. A few stores already there become conforming and if the University decides to move its University Store to the area, or develop in any other way that involves small stores, it can do so. Provided, of course, that Council does indeed pass the ordinance next week.

Dissent. The declarative harmony of this Planning Board action soon dissolved into dissonance when the other Borough zoning ordinance proposal came up for approval.

Council wants to make some changes in the Vandeventer, Spring, Tulane neighborhood. One ordinance, adjusting the zones, was wiped out in a repeal last spring when neighbors vehemently protested.

Now, Council has begun all over again.
Under state law, Council's introduced ordinance must be acknowledged by the Planning Board—either approved or disapproved—before Council can act. If the board disapproves, it takes a two-thirds vote of Council to enact the measure.

Nobody objected to making the west side of Vandeventer from the Garden Theatre to Spring Street, into an R4 residential zone.

The street has seen a continuing loss of housing through conversion to offices, and both Council and Planning Board agree on the change to Residence-4. The board voted unanimously to give a favorable nod to Council's ordinance.

But Council's decision to include in the CB district Skillman's Spring Street upholstery establishment, Hall's furniture exchange on the Spring and North Tulane corner, the house next to it on Spring, Nelson's Glass Shop, the bowling alley on Nassau, Lincoln Court and stores on South Tulane, drew battle lines on the board. The ordinance would also convert to Residence Business (RB) two properties on North Tulane and everything else in the area's R4 zone, to RB.

"The CBD sub-committee said the Central Business district should not go any farther north," stated Mr. Walker, who was its chairman, "and if we'd wanted RB for North Tulane, we'd have said so. Do you know what kinds of 'business' come under that 'B' designation?" And he read from the ordinance: shoe repair shops, bars, restaurants, barbershops, and so on.

Mr. Williams joined Mr. Walker to emphasize that the July 17 passage of the CBD plan hadn't included any extension of the CB to this section. If a parking garage is built on the library lot, which backs up to the west side of North Tulane, some changes ought to be considered, he acknowledged.

Mayor Robert W. Cawley and Council member Barbara Sigmund, both of whom sit on the board, defended the change. Mrs. Sigmund said the RB zone could mean stores on the ground floor and small apartments above, "more realistic housing," for a downtown area, she said, than the present single-family dwellings on North Tulane.

The mayor said there was a sharp difference in density between the CB and RB districts. Board member Margen Penick defended the RB also, urging the board to respond to citizen desires.

Olga Hall, who owns the furniture store, said all residents of North Tulane want the RB district. She said the RB requirement that 40% of each building be residential, could actually add residential units.

The vote was 7-4 against approving the ordinance. Council must now muster a two-thirds vote to pass it.

planned expansion and renovation of the Dutch Neck School in the West Windsor-Plainsboro Central School District has been beset by inflation. As a result, voters there are being asked to approve a $230,000 supplementary bond issue in a referendum scheduled for this Tuesday.

Last January voters approved the initial, $989,000 bond issue that was based on cost estimates made in November of last year. The project includes construction of 10 additional classrooms for the school and replacement of the existing library and cafeteria—steps that would increase the capacity of the school by about 300 pupils.

This August, when the bids for the work were actually received, the total cost came to $1,244,000, $255,000 more than expected. The Board of Education trimmed $25,000 from the project and arrived at the need for an additional $230,000.

The Board explained that the actual inflationary cost-increase was greater than that anticipated in the original cost estimate.

If the additional funds are not approved this Tuesday, the Board said, the present bids must be rejected and the planned project would have to be reduced and additional bids sought at a later time. Approval of the project at this time would mean by 1979 an additional property tax of $9 on a property assessed at $50,000.

Two zoning ordinances, one changing R02 to CB, to allow retail use, in the area around the Playhouse and public library, and the other affecting the Spring-Vandeventer-Tulane area, will be heard.

The latter would make the east side of Vandeventer Residential-4; convert establishments on South Tulane, the south side of Spring and the Lincoln Court area, including the bowling alley on Nassau, to CB, thereby making many of these business firms "conforming;" and change some properties on North Tulane to Residence-Business. This change would help preserve the residential character of the neighborhood, Mayor Cawley observed, since only 40 per cent of an RB structure can be "business," yet allow owners a better financial break if a parking garage is built on the library lot, and they want to sell. The Hall furniture store and the Skillman upholstery establishment would be CB—Central Business.

The $500,000 sewer inspection bond issue and the police-civilian salary ordinances will also be up for hearing.

WHEN COUNCIL MEETS...
Next Tuesday, A basketfull of ordinances will be up for public hearing when Borough Council meets next Tuesday at 8 in Borough Hall.
Telebus' request for a fare increase from 50 cents to $1 will be on the agenda. If Council grants it, Telebus can theoretically begin to operate again; Township Committee has already given its approval to the increase.

The ordinance providing for a consolidated health district with the Township will probably be tabled or amended, Mayor Robert W. Cawley said this week. Both Borough and Township regard the process as unnecessarily cumbersome and are investigating simpler devices.

"All we want is to merge the two boards and have a single department, but how do we get this?" the mayor asked. Council has not discussed in detail a plan for merger under the Department of Community Affairs' Inter-local Services Act.

Programs for Elderly

A morning coffee-klatch, with beverage, pastry and lots of chatter—that was another popular suggestion and it would serve a dual purpose, Mrs. Helm believes. It would provide warm sociability for people who live alone, by and large, and it would give older people a chance to air what's on their minds.

An artist may sign up to demonstrate the technique of watercolor, and guide the amateur artists as they "do it yourself." Several women want to make a quilt, and hope that one could be left permanently in the community room so they could drop in and make a few stitches from time to time. "The more we use this room, the better," says Mrs. Helm, and Karin Slaby, executive director of the Housing Authority.

The room is freshly painted, with new draperies, and soon it will have comfortable cushions, too. (The room is, of course, already in some use. For example, the public library takes films regularly to show for Lloyd Terrace residents.)

Hot Lunch, Too. Another service for the elderly, due to begin whenever red tape is unsnarled, is a nutrition program operated with Federal money channeled through state and county. It will provide a hot lunch at mid-day two days a week in Mt. Pisgah Church for eligible senior citizens.

"We had hoped the program could begin early in October," says Mrs. Howard Waxwood on the Needs of the Aging," a Jr., chairman of the Mercer County Council on Aging. "Now we hope—well, maybe in two weeks. The program is designed for people who live alone, and just don't prepare proper meals for themselves."

Tied to the existing and flourishing Thursday lunch at Littlebrook School this could mean a minimum of three hot, well-balanced meals a week for senior citizens. Not enough to sustain life, perhaps, but better than no meal at all, which social workers say is all too common when old people live alone.

These Littlebrook lunches are the joint project of the schools, the Council of Community Services and the Red Cross. (Call 924-2404 for transportation.) About 50 senior citizens attend, pay the $1.35 and not only enjoy one another but take great pleasure in seeing the lively young kids in school.

Constant Growth. Mrs. Waxwood, who has been involved in Princeton's community affairs for many years, says that services for older people have increased enormously here in only five years.

One of the newest developments is Operation Reassurance: a free daily call to check on the safety of people living alone. Registration can be made by calling 924-5865, or writing the Council of Community Services, Box 201, Princeton.

It was in March, 1967, that the Council of Community Services formed its "Committee

"We must make sure we're listening to the people we're trying to help," Mrs. Senseman muses. "How can you go to the recreation department or the commission on aging to say what people 'need' without a mandate from the elderly themselves? We need to be more attuned."

The Commission on Aging, to which Mrs. Senseman refers, was founded in the spring of 1971, and consists of ten Borough and Township residents of all ages, appointed by governing bodies. The group's most publicized project in recent months was Crosstown '62, providing station-wagon transportation on call for older residents (over 62 years of age, hence the title).

Transportation Needed.

"Crosstown was a pilot project," Mrs. Senseman emphasizes, "but when it was stopped, and Telebus didn't fill in as everyone said it would, seniors felt let down. Now there is no transportation that fits their needs, and the whole thing needs re-thinking. I think people just haven't worked hard enough. It's a horrendous problem."

Mrs. Janet Pearson, executive for the Council of Community Services, has been investigating other towns to see what alternatives might provide transportation.

Mrs. Senseman thinks the elderly haven't much hope that anything will happen. She delights in older activists like Mrs. Lucy Dale, who has written thumping letters to newspapers, scolded municipal officials, rounded up other senior citizens to appear en masse in Borough and Township Hall and, to put it mildly, made her presence known.

Oldest Club is 10. Meanwhile, the granny of them all, the "Y"'s Friday Club, moves happily along. It's been in existence about ten years and its 150 elderly members find it a happy source of fellowship, and cultural companionship. This year, there will be a slide-talk on contemporary China by a woman who's been there, music programs and a helping hand to others.

"We had a white-elephant sale and raised money for a 'Y' camp scholarship and for the 'Y' building fund," Mrs. Armstrong says. "We bought a $270 public-address system, which we share with the 'Y', and blackout curtains for the main meeting room."

Volunteer director of the Friday Club for the "Y", Mrs. Armstrong makes the meat, cheese or fish sandwiches that are served before the cookies-and-beverage dessert. She visits the sick, and arranges memorial services. Friday Club members have bought a book for the Princeton Public Library in memory of each member who has died.

"We have all races and incomes here, all denominations and atheists," Mrs. Armstrong reports. "We had an older lady from Japan who said she'd never been treated so royally anywhere. We have wives from the Institute for Advanced Study, and women of very modest educational background. But we need more carpool drivers—volunteers can call me at 921-6894!" Women like Mrs. Armstrong, Mrs. Senseman, Mrs. Pearson, Mrs. Waxwood and Mrs. Helm, find deep rewards in working with older citizens. As Mrs. Helm puts it, "They have so much to give, and we often don't ask it of them."

TOPICS Of The Town

BURGLARS GET $10,000

In Jewelry, Silver and Cash. Two daylight robberies of Township homes last month netted thieves, described by police as "obviously professionals", more than $10,000 in coins, jewelry, silverware and cash.

A rear window was pried to enter the home of Hans W. Hendel, 214 Riverside Drive, between 11:30 and 2:40 p.m. Taken were a valuable coin collection, jewelry and silverware with a total value of $7,228. Only small valuable items were taken, police said. The owners' son arrived home from school and found the house ransacked.

According to police, a neighbor saw a green pickup truck with two men in front of the house about 1 p.m. When she looked at them, they drove away, police said, but did not leave the area.

The same day the home of Howard S. Ende, 19 Longview Drive, was entered through a pried-open bedroom window and ransacked. Taken from a master bedroom and living room were jewelry and silver valued at $2,000. Also stolen, police report, were other valuables worth $1,065, and $165 in cash.

"We have saturated the area with officers," said Chief Frederick Porter. He reminded Township residents that the Mercer County Prosecutor's Office has supplied Township police with color photographs of a large stolen jewelry cache recently recovered by Trenton police. Some of the recovered valuables--mostly jewelry and silver--are believed to have come from break-ins in Princeton.

"We request all persons who have had a breaking and entering in their homes to stop by at the police department and view these photos," the Chief said.

Sunday Entry. The home of Hillard W. Pouncy Jr., 157 Mansgrove Road, was entered between 7 a.m. and 5:15 Sunday by a thief who broke a pane of glass to reach in and unlock a rear door. Every room in the house was ransacked, police said.

Taken were a $180 twin lens reflex camera, $250 in cash and $7 in pennies. Detectives Norman Servis and Samuel Bianco are investigating.

HOPEWELL MAN FINED

Involved in Fatal Accident. A Hopewell resident, driver of a car which killed a three-year-old Hightstown child and injured her mother and another woman last March in a tragic accident in front of the Princeton University Store, was fined Monday in

Borough Court by Judge Philip Carchman.

Edwin O. Kling, Ridge Road, originally charged with reckless driving, was fined $25 and $10 court costs after the charge was amended to careless driving. He pleaded guilty. Mr. Kling was represented by attorney Harry F. Hilt, who had asked for a motion for dismissal.

Mary A. Nord, 12 Jill Drive, Princeton Junction, was fined $35 for leaving the scene of an accident and $20 for a stop sign violation. Harrison Uhl, Port Mercer Road, pleaded not guilty to a charge of careless driving but was fined $20.

Ten area residents were fined for speeding: John Soete, 138 Ewing Street, $24; Alexandra Cornejo, 172 Nassau Street, $15; Hilja Treumut, 46 Henry Avenue, $18; Alissa K. Sutphin, 6 Laurel Road, $15; Gavin Hendrickson, Orchard Road, Skillman, $15; Saleem Kassam, 11 Dickinson Street, $17; Frank Schussler, W. Crescent Avenue, Rocky Hill, $15; Alouisus Goossen, 223 Mt. Lucas Road, $17; Marjorie Kendall, 31 Taylor Road, $15; and Richard L. Bunn, Route 518, Blawenburg, $15.

WOMAN FOILS ATTACKER

With Screams and Kicks. The screams and kicks of a Borough woman last week forced her attacker to let her go.

Borough police report the attempted rape took place about 11:15 Tuesday night, September 24, in the Park Place lot. The victim reported the incident the next day at 8:51 p.m.

According to police, the woman in her 20's had just gotten out of her car and was locking it when she was attacked from the rear. Her assailant held one arm tight around her neck and with his other hand pulled at her blouse, police said. The victim started to scream, whereupon her attacker, police continued, warned her "to shut up or else!"

When the woman continued to scream and kick, her assailant turned her loose, police said. They said that she lived in the immediate area.

The attacker was described as 25 to 26 years old. Det. Charles Harris is investigating.

THEFTS CONTINUE

Of Women's Pocketbooks. The thefts of women's pocketbooks and wallets continues unabated in Princeton.

Audrey Bennett, 396 Riverside Drive, lost $40 when her wallet was taken from the front seat of her unlocked car Friday in the Community Park lot. Nancy L. Kirby, 310 Princeton Avenue, lost $5 when her wallet was taken from the same car. Police placed the thefts between 3:10 and 4 p.m.

Jewel Inquiries High

Det. Robert O'Neill of the Trenton Detective Bureau reports that approximately two dozen residents from the Princeton area have come to view a large cache of stolen jewelry uncovered last month by Trenton police, as reported last week in TOWN TOPICS. Police at the time said that the loot had been taken from a wide area over the past few years and invited victims of house thefts to view the haul to try to make an identification.

"As far as I know," Det. O'Neill said, "no one from Princeton has been able to identify anything as theirs. Some of them are victims of robberies dating back over a period of years."

Twp. Detective Samuel Bianco reported that Township police have received at least a dozen calls from residents as far away as Franklin Township. They stop in here and view photos of the cache and if they think they see something they go on to Trenton, he commented. "We've had a good response but so far no one has been able to make a positive identification," he said.

Mrs. Gladys Mitchell, 288 Witherspoon Street, lost $56 when her wallet was taken from a drawer in a living room.

Mrs. Mitchell told police that a woman with two children had knocked on her door last week and inquired if there was an apartment available in the area. She led them inside and left them alone for a while, she told police. Two hours later, she discovered her wallet was missing.

The manager of the Light Gallery in the Princeton Shopping Center was somewhat more fortunate when her purse, which she had left atop boxes in a storage area, was stolen by two juveniles. It contained personal papers but no money, police said.

The victim, Barbara Allen, told police that the juveniles had entered the store shortly before noon through an unlocked door facing North Harrison Street.

Borough police report that a John Street woman heard someone at her front door Saturday night at 7:55 p.m. She responded in time to see a "fleet-footed young man" fleeing the house with her purse, which she had left in the kitchen. It contained 35 cents, police said.

A Seminary student lost $50 Friday when someone entered his room between 5 and 5:45 p.m. while he was showering and removed the money from his wallet.

The first week of the autumnal season has brought temperatures below average, and leaves are already beginning to turn. On a normal basis, however, the height of the foliage season in New Jersey does not occur for another three weeks.

With the turn to cooler weather, drier air can be expected, the Man reports. September moved out with rainfall about three times average for the month. With a wet August preceding it, it's fundamentally correct that weather goes in six-week cycles. October will be easier on the bumbershoots.

$2,500 GRANT MADE

To Preservation Society. A grant of $2,500 from the Mercer County Cultural and Heritage Commission is expected to hasten the preparation of the 18th century Clarke farmhouse on the Princeton Battlefield for Bicentennial visitors.

In accepting the grant last week Edward F. D'Arms, president of the Princeton Battlefield Preservation Society, announced that it would be used to acquire period furniture for the colonial dwelling. "We expect to be able to purchase some authentic items and to obtain the gift of others," he said. "We want the house to be furnished very much as it was at the time of the Battle of Princeton."

Selection and acquisition of the furniture will be under the direction of a committee of the Society, with the cooperation of Mrs. Lucius Wilmerding of the Princeton Historical Society. Extensive research has been done on the type and arrangement of furniture in central New Jersey farmhouses of the 18th century. Historians and architects specializing in the period are assisting the Society.

The Clarke farmhouse is on the site of a battle that was a turning point in the American Revolution. On January 3, 1777, Washington's forces surprised and outmaneuvered a superior British force, preventing a further advance. Word of the Battle's outcome quickly spread through the colonies and raised the morale of the American forces.

Plans for developing an historic park on the battleground have been completed by John M. Dickey, restoration architect, with funds provided by the State and the Society. Visitors will be able to trace the steps of the British and the American forces and go through the farmhouse where General Mercer was taken after he had been mortally wounded in the battle.

Authenticity Essential. Mr. D'Arms noted that funds for construction and restoration on the battlefield itself are being furnished by the State, but that additional monies will be required to furnish the Clarke farmhouse.

"This grant from the Cultural and Heritage Commission, will help us to start acquisition of the necessary furnishings," he added. "Authentic furnishings are essential to the atmosphere of the house. We want visitors to feel that the house was used and enjoyed by real people -- not figures out of a history book."

SAFE IS STOLEN

From YMCA Office. A safe containing $60 and a coffee maker were stolen between 11 a.m. and 10:30 p.m. Sunday from an office in the YMCA on Avalon Place.

Also taken from the floor safe on wheels, police said, was a set of master keys--forcing the Y to spend $800 to change all the locks. A window on the west side of the building was forced to gain entry. Police added that other offices were ransacked but nothing else appeared to have been taken.

Postage Meter Taken. A postage meter valued at $1,000 with $984 of postage left on it was stolen last week from the Gallop & Robinson Corp., 575 Ewing Street. A lock on a window was pried to enter the building.

Police report no other offices were entered and nothing else was disturbed. The theft was reported by Jack Oliver.

Color TV Set. A color television set valued at $325 was taken last week from a den in the home of Roland W. Smith Jr., 38 Pardee Circle.

Nothing else was taken, according to police, who report access was gained

Medical Center Opens Drive For Gifts Totalling $400,000

Residents from 19 communities in this area have been asked to join the Medical Center at Princeton's Annual Appeal. Letters were sent to 22,000 households following the announcement of the 1974-75 goal of $400,000.

Eugene P. Gillespie, chairman of the Annual Appeal, indicated that funds would be used for the purchase of new equipment. Part of the funds will also be allocated for retirement of debts for The Medical Center's past expansion programs.

In his letter Mr. Gillespie reported that more than 12,000 patients received hospital care in 1973; that 37,000 received emergency treatment; and that the Laboratory, X-ray, and Physical Therapy facilities were used 55,000 times. "These staggering totals," he wrote, "tell all too graphically the role that The Medical Center plays in our lives."

Progress Is Essential. For several years prior to 1973, Annual Appeal funds were used for construction at The Medical Center. Last year's gifts were the first in four years to be applied to equipment purchase. They were not enough, however, to meet the needs of progress and maintenance in a quality health care facility.

Mr. Gillespie noted that "Continuing progress in medical science requires continuing improvement of equipment and facilities at The Medical Center. The high quality of health care delivery there is available to us today because of the generous support of the people and organizations in the many communities served by The Medical Center at Princeton."

Mr. Gillespie's letter was mailed to residents of those municipalities located in The Medical Center's primary service area. They include Princeton, Hopewell, Hightstown, Jamesburg, Cranbury, Lawrenceville, Pennington, Plainsboro, Princeton Junction, Kendall Park, Skillman, Trenton, Belle Mead, Rocky Hill, Kingston, Dayton, Monmouth Junction, Blawenburg and Franklin Park.

"Hoboken," completed this spring, has just won the highest award in the experimental-live-action category at the Atlanta Film Festival. It is a half-hour documentary about an experimental film-maker and his wife, both of whom are friends of Mr. Churchill.

NO NURSERY SCHOOL

At PCH. Negotiations have been broken off between the Princeton Nursery School and PCH Village, Inc., the low-middle income housing project sponsored by Princeton Community Housing.

Length of the lease, management and control of the building and future size of the school were the chief areas of disagreement, according to Mrs. Sally Sword, for the school and Mrs. Marianne Rees for PCH Village, Inc.

For several months, the two organizations have been considering a plan under which PCH would make land available for construction of a new school building. In return, PCH village children would have gone to the school and the building would have been used by PCH tenants after school hours.

SELTZER TO LECTURE

At Adult School Course. Daniel Seltzer, director of McCarter Theatre Company and professor of English and drama, will initiate a first for the Princeton Adult School when he takes his audience behind the scenes at McCarter. His lecture, the first of a series, has been changed from Tuesday, as announced in the catalogue, to Monday. The place has also been changed from Princeton High School to McCosh 10, on the Princeton University campus.

The lecture series by Professor Seltzer represents a joint effort with the McCarter Repertory troupe. The company's new season opens October 10 with Eugene O'Neill's "Beyond the Horizon," and Dr. Seltzer's talk will deal with that drama. The professor will also be part of the cast, playing the role of the doctor.

The lecture is open to the public. Though there has been advance registration for the lecture, tickets may also be purchased at the door. Admission is $1.50.

Clean-Up Week Planned

In connection with Fire Prevention Week, the Borough has scheduled its annual Fall Clean-Up Week for October 7 through October 11. Recycling of clear glass is set for Wednesday, October 9.

All Borough residents should put out material on regular garbage collection days. That material should be:

- Of a size and weight that one man can lift.
- Tied in bundles, bagged, wrapped, etc.
- Brush tied in lengths of 3 to 4 feet and bundled.

Clean-up Week in the Township will be held at a date to be announced.

Registration this fall for the adult school classes has already exceeded 800 and is expected to reach 900 or more when classes begin in October. Registration continues until classes begin during the first week in October. Course descriptions are available at the Princeton Public Library.

WOMEN'S DAY OPEN

For More Registrants. Registration has reached the halfway mark for the Prin-eton YWCA-sponsored "A Day For Women" to be held Saturday, October 12, from 10 to 3:30 at the YWCA, Avalon Place. The committee reports that the 10 afternoon workshops are being filled on a "first come, first served" basis, with a maximum participation planned for 200 persons.

A small information area will feature a selection of books written by and about women. A bibliography has been especially prepared for distribution. Also available will be pamphlets describing area education opportunities for women interested in furthering their education.

Registration at $5 per person includes lunch provided by the YWCA Newcomers Club. There will be no fee for women over 60. Information may be obtained by calling the YWCA office at 924-1825.

LIPREADING TAUGHT

At Merwick Unit. The fall session of lipreading classes for adults is scheduled to begin on October 9 in the Communication Disorders Unit of the Merwick Extended Care and Rehabilitation Unit of the Princeton Medical Center. Miss Elin Gursky, speech pathologist, will conduct weekly classes at both the beginning and advanced levels.

The beginning level is for those who have had speech reading instruction. Participants in the advanced group should have had at least one basic course in speechreading in order to keep up with conversational and situational techniques stressed at this level.

Classes are one and one-half hours long and will meet each Wednesday in morning or evening session at Merwick, 79 Bayard Lane. Those wishing further information should call the Communication Disorders Unit at 921-7700, extension 226 or 227.

WE DROP OUT

Of Title I Plan. Princeton's schools may drop out of a Title I project aimed solely at boys and girls who live in the geographic area around Community Park School, regardless of which school they actually attend.

In a detailed memorandum, Charles Huchet, director of Student Services, declares that the $25,715 program not only excludes many children who need help but is cumbersome to administer far beyond its value.

Title I is a 1965 Federal program designed for disadvantaged children. Dr. Huchet says that criteria become more stringent each year. Eventually, he predicts, the local school district will only be allowed to choose the students, while Federal and state officials determine what must be done to meet student needs.

"Their authority to do so is derived from the power of the dollar, and the desire of local districts to have access to that dollar," he says.

In this case, children have to live in the part of town where there is the highest concentration of low-income families. This is the area around Community Park and that school has been tapped as the only school for the project. The variation in the percentages of low-income children going to other schools is so great that the Princeton school district as a whole, cannot qualify, Dr. Huchet says.

Many other students have educational needs, he continues, but live elsewhere in town, and therefore aren't eligible.

"Ironically," he says, "our compliance with Federal and state laws relating to desegregation and racially balanced schooling in effect disenfranchises students transported out of the Community Park attendance zone, from participation in a Title I project."

SAVE ALUMINUM AND MONEY: "Weighing In" at the Reynolds Aluminum Recycling Van at the Princeton Shopping Center, Margaret Broadwater, Township Committeewoman and liaison to the Joint Solid Waste Committee, reminds everyone that it costs tax money to dispose of those aluminum containers tossed in the trash. Reynolds wants to recycle them, and will give you 15 cents for every pound you bring to the van when it comes to the Shopping Center again October 18, November 15 and December 13 from 10 to 1.

Extensive testing would be required of all children, kindergarten through sixth grade, in that Community Park zone, plus additional testing of children who don't speak "standard English", in order to make an assessment of general needs.

The achievement level of each child would be compared to the district norm, and the "educationally disadvantaged" thereby identified as eligible for the project. Kindergarten would be assessed in social-emotional behavior, school readiness, motor performance and their social history recorded.

Each child would be tested in a minimum of five areas, five skills ranging from arithmetic to social health factors. Again, non-standard English speaking children would need testing with special techniques.

Dr. Huchet questions some of the criteria, points out the "extensive" use of teacher and administrative time, observes that even if the district as a whole could be eligible, he would still give a "no" recommendation because the top-heavy testing would have to be done in all four elementary schools, not just one.

As it is, he adds, the state is increasing the number of special reports required, which takes a lot of Dr. Huchet's own time and that of the school's finance office. Costs of this administrative overhead, he says, have largely been borne by the Princeton district.

HOME ENTERED

Silver Left Behind. A Stockton Street home was entered Friday by a thief who left behind a suitcase filled with silver in the kitchen when he was apparently frightened off when the owner returned at 2 p.m.

Taken, however, were two cameras valued at $500 and a $25 portable radio. The house was ransacked, police said. The suitcase containing the silver had been taken from an upstairs room.

Police report a window of a rear porch was broken to get inside. They placed the theft between 9 and 2.

HERE'S YOUR CHANCE TO HELP SOMEONE WHO BELIEVES IN YOU

A DOLLAR SAYS MILLICENT WILL MAKE CONGRESS STAND A LITTLE TALLER

Invest a dollar — ten dollars — or more and help Millicent Fenwick prove that people want to restore integrity and action to the Halls of Congress. Yes, we need help. Mrs. Fenwick is facing a well financed, slickly produced campaign by her opponent. She owes allegiance to no special interests, and is counting on people like you to help with small donations to finance her campaign.

Millicent Fenwick has spent a career in public service proving that some politicians do care. Especially her experience as State Consumer Affairs Director where she earned a widespread reputation as an effective foe of fraud and misrepresentation. Please help send her to Congress where her concern for solving people's problems can be put to work.

A dollar says Millicent Fenwick will make Congress stand a little taller. Your dollar.

FOUR CARS COLLIDE

One Passenger Injured. Three of four cars involved in a chain collision on the Princeton-Kingston Road Saturday as they headed for the Princeton-Rutgers football game in Palmer Stadium had to be towed a way, and a passenger in one was treated at Princeton Medical Center. All four drivers were from outside the Princeton area.

Treated at the hospital for abrasions of both knees, arm and neck was Bonnie L. Lueddeke, 24, of Mountainside. She was a passenger in a car driven by David A. Sheppard, 24, of Prospect Park. It was raining at the time of the mishap, which took place 75 feet from the intersection of Locust Lane.

According to Ptl. Anthony Gaylord, who investigated, a small foreign car driven by Geoffrey A. Emerson, 18, of Hillside, had stopped when the car in front of him halted. William T. Canavan, 21, of Elizabeth, managed to stop three feet behind the Emerson car.

Another car pulled off the road to avoid hitting the rear of the Canavan car, but the next in line, the Sheppard car, rammed the rear of the Canavan vehicle, pushing it into the rear of the Emerson car. A fourth car, operated by George W. Wilmot, 52, East Millstone, also failed to stop in time, and ran into the rear of the Sheppard car. All but the first car had to be towed away.

Ptl. Gaylord said that Mr. Sheppard and Mr. Wilmot were inattentive in their driving and he issued each a summons for careless driving.

MAIL IS RIFLED

At 84 Nassau Building. Mail in the hallway entry of the 84 Nassau Street Building was rifled Monday, police said, by someone who pried open two packages.

A package containing eight 5-oz liquid bottles of facial soap, valued at $5.95 each, was opened, the robber leaving three bottles behind. From another package containing five bottles of medication, valued at $10, a thief took four and left one behind.

PHS TOPS "MATHLETES"

Wolf Is High Scorer. Princeton High School scored 23 out of a possible 30 points to win the first meeting of the 1974-75 Delaware Valley Mathematics League. Top scorer in the meet was Michael Wolf of PHS, who had the only perfect score of the day.

Lawrence High School was second, followed by Hopewell Valley Central High School. The next mathematics meeting will be held October 22 at Bordentown High School.

POLLSTER TO SPEAK

To Newcomers. The Princeton YWCA's Newcomers Club will hold its second meeting on Thursday, October 10, at 12:30 in the Y. The guest speaker will be Charles Roll of the Gallup Poll who will discuss the polling industry.

Anyone who has lived within a 15-mile radius of Princeton for less than two years is invited to attend. Nursery reservations for children one year or older may be made by contacting Karen Grimes, 737-9388.

FALL FOLIAGE TRIP

To Tuxedo, N.Y. A fall foliage trip to Sterling Forest, Tuxedo, N.Y., is planned Tuesday for retired persons of the Princeton area by the American Association of Retired Persons of the YMCA.

The trip leaves the YMCA at 9 by bus, with plans including a day at the forest, followed by dinner at the Tappansee Inn before returning home at 9. Attractions at the Sterling Gardens include acres of parks and flowers, animal and bird performances, shopping and boat rides.

Mrs. Jenny Jackson is in charge of the trip. Reservations will be received at the YMCA office until Thursday.

Busy 11-Year Old Makes Time to Design New Flag for County And Her Entry Is Judged Best of More Than 1,000 Submitted

If there was anyone in Mercer County who had time to design a flag for the county, it was Sophie Volpp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gert P. Volpp, 116 Poe Road.

Sophie, an 11-year-old student at John Witherspoon School, seems to have time to just about everything. She has been announced the runnerup in the contest to create an official new flag design for Mercer County, and the winner in the elementary school division. She also is a serious young student of art, studies the piano, studies the violin, takes ballet lessons, is involved in competitive swimming, has started with tennis lessons, reads at a non-stop pace, and belongs to a Girl Scout troop.

Other than that she does hardly anything, which is why she devoted some of her spare time to the question of what Mercer County's official new flag should look like. Her entry surpassed more than 1,000 other entries in the elementary division from more than 1,700 flag designs submitted in all the divisions.

Sophie's design was based on an outline of the Mercer Oak, the same tree which was used as the basis for the overall winning design submitted by Mrs. Dorothea Pullen of Hightstown.

Dr. Howard Goldstein, chairman of the six-judge panel of professional artists, and head of the Fine Arts Department at Trenton State College, noted that among the 1,700 entries, probably more than 100 made use of the Mercer Oak in one way or another. The famous tree on the Princeton battlefield grew on the spot where General Mercer was fatally bayoneted by British troops during the Battle of Princeton.

Uncluttered Design. The contest was sponsored by the Mercer County Cultural and Heritage Commission. The unveiling of the official new flag will take place this fall, on a date to be announced.

The flag design contest came to Sophie's attention through her social studies teacher, John Halpin. Her first effort at a flag design, she says, was considerably more cluttered than the one which she finally submitted in the contest.

Her nine-year-old sister Letitia ('Leti') also submitted an entry, based on an outline of Mercer County. "It didn't win a prize," Leti explained. Recently several pictures by both of the sisters hung in a show of Chinese-style art produced by Princeton area children and exhibited at the Princeton Public Library.

Sophie and Leti both have been studying in special classes in Chinese Art given for area children in Princeton by I-Han Chiang. Leti, too, is heavily involved in music and art, an interest which both girls came by naturally. Their German born father, a chemist with the FMC Corporation, is avidly fond of music. Their mother, a native of China, is the daughter of Tung Li Yuan, who had been the director of the National Library in Peking and a member of the Board of the Palace Museum there. Sophie has another sister, Serena, 4, and a brother, Kevin, 7.

Good Teaching. Sophie credits much of her enthusiasm for art to the quality of teaching she received in art classes in the Princeton schools. She says that at her elementary school, the Littlebrook School, "We had a very good art teacher; everyone liked him." The teacher was David MacKey.

Her piano studies have extended over a five-year period, while she has been at the violin for two years. Her studies in ballet, at the school of the Princeton Ballet Society, go back four years. During the summer just past she has been swimming with the Princeton Aquatic Association.

rear deck addition to his home at 104 Bayard Lane.

All of the board's decisions were unanimous, with the exception of the Pettit application, and none carried any restriction.

The $600,000 addition to Merwick will be added to the 1969 wing and contain 17 beds, a dining room activity room and physical medicine rooms. The 17 beds would replace 17 lost after changes in the first and second floor, the major change being the addition of a diagnostic x-ray unit to the first floor, thus eliminating the need to take Merwick patients to the main hospital for x-rays.

John W. Kauffman, executive vice-president of the Medical Center, told the board that addition was necessary to meet licensing requirements of the state Department of Health, the Federal HEW agency and the Occupational Safety and Health Authority. Without complying with these mandated changes, he said, Merwick would lose its state license, which in turn would mean federal loss of Medicare patients. "Unless we comply, beds would have to close down. Requirements of the state and federal agencies are constantly changing," Mr. Kauffman said. "It's a fact of life."

Does Not Meet Code. The $3,400,000 addition to the hospital was necessary again, Mr. Kauffman emphasized, because the Medical Center had been told by the state that its present operating facilities do not meet present state codes.

In its application, the Medical Center also plans to add a second floor bay to its boiler plant to add a new boiler, so an old 1926 boiler located elsewhere can be retired.

The half floor of the addition Mr. Kauffman said would be a continuation of a mechanical floor. The second floor would house the new operating unit and the third would replace—"bed for bed"—those lost in other buildings when the obstetrical department was completely renovated.

Dr. David B. Miller, a surgeon at the hospital, told the board he had been there since 1951 when there were three operating rooms and six or seven surgeons. "Today we have four ORs and 45 to 50 surgeons using the same facilities. Modern surgery needs a total complex in one area and it can be done in this area," he said.

Inevitably, although it was not germane to the application, questions about parking arose from the audience. Mrs. Lauren Jasinski of Mercerville, speaking for her grandmother, Mrs. Irene Dalla Pazzo, 29 Henry Avenue, insisted on seeing the correspondence from HEW and state licensing board ordering the changes that Mr. Kauffman referred to. A hospital official was sent out to get them.

"We've been asked if we are building this for Princeton or building it for the area," Mr. Kauffman said in summing up. "There is no question this is an area hospital."

"It would not be the hospital it is, or have the number of physicians it has, or the lab facilities it enjoys if this were a mere 'Princeton' hospital."

Only 21 per cent of the patients at the hospital came from the Borough and Township, he said. "If Princeton wants a top-notch hospital, it needs the support of the surrounding community."

A Bicycle Town. Tiger Auto Stores, Inc., presently located on 24-26 Witherspoon Street, received front and rear yard variances from the board plus the right to locate two of three off street parking spaces required by the addition in a front yard.

Owner Jay Mironov pointed out to the board that Princeton has "more bikes per number of families than any other town in the state..." and there is not one complete, good-sized bike shop in the area. "This proposed shop would not be detrimental to the area in any way," he added.

Moreover, Mr. Mironov continued, he planned to hold repair and safety clinics there and there would be less traffic flow in the congested area known as "gasoline alley" because "a lot of people come to a bike shop on a bike, not in a car."

"I love working on bikes. I like servicing them. I like to take care of people," he said. Mr. Mironov told the board at one point there was no future for him at his present location because of space restrictions and the congestion of Witherspoon Street traffic.

His attorney, Douglas Smith, told the board that the Mironovs would give up their Witherspoon Store if they won zoning approval for the proposed addition.

Pro and Con. Two commented from the audience. Alfred Kahn told the board that he lived in the area and he believed that the bike shop would be a great help to people in the community. "There are too many gas stations in the area," he said.

A lone but strong dissenter was Karl Light, who owns a small real estate office building directly behind the 56 by 100 foot BP lot.

Saying first he found himself in the position of being against God, motherhood and bicycles, Mr. Light said that he still had to voice his strong objection.

"Visibility is a terribly important thing for any business," he said. Granting the application, he continued, would cut off his view and that of clients which at the present "is readily visible from Nassau Street."

Mr. Light also told the board that he could see many other uses for the building other than a bike shop, suggesting, for one, an office building. "Had I been aware the tract was being offered for sale, I would have bought it myself," he said. It was purchased by Tiger Auto for $95,000.

TOWNSHIP POLICE WIN
Over West Windsor, Borough. The annual Ellis-Harris Memorial Pistol Match, held since 1962 in memory of Twp. Ptl. Billie Ellis and Borough Ptl. Walter Harris who lost their lives in line of duty, was won last week by the Township.

The Township marksmen compiled a team score of 1661 points, followed by West Windsor police, 1539, and the Borough, 1482. No team, however, has been able to win the necessary three years in a row to retire the trophy.

Tops among all 20 shooters was the Township's crack shot, Ptl. James Vandermark, who had 456 out of a possible 500 score. Lt. Richard Steiner described Vandermark as a natural born shooter and one of the coolest he has ever seen.

CROP FOR THE HUNGRY: Volunteers from Princeton and dozens of other communities in New Jersey will be marching this Sunday to raise funds for CROP, the Community Hunger Appeal of the Church World Service, an organization funneling money to children in famine-ridden countries. The marchers seek pledges for each mile they cover on the CROP walk. Organizers of the Princeton march include Ann Walcott, left, 41 Brookstone Drive, a sophomore at Princeton Day School; Dan Clohossey, 479 Jellerson Road, a senior at Princeton High School; and Cary Bachelder, 225 Constitution Drive, a sophomore at PDS.

News Of The CHURCHES

WALK FOR THE HUNGRY
CROP March Sunday. More than 350 persons from Princeton, and hundreds more from other communities throughout New Jersey, are expected to march Sunday in the CROP Walk, a fund-raising effort of the Community Hunger Appeal of the Church World Service.

In Princeton the walk begins at 2 at Trinity Church, and will cover 10 miles before ending up at Miller Chapel on the campus of the Princeton Theological Seminary. Marchers seek pledges for each mile of the march they complete. The Princeton organizers hope that the marchers here can earn $15,000 for the hunger appeal. Statewide, the goal is to raise $1 million.

CROP, which is based nationally in Elkhart, Indiana, has been working to relieve world hunger since 1947. CROP sends food to victims of earthquakes, hurricanes and other disasters, helps refugees get resettled, and provides equipment and resources for agricultural development.

The current appeal is made more urgent, the organizers point out, by the crisis proportions of the current world famine.

Hopewell Walk. Another community-wide walk is being planned in Hopewell Valley. Marchers there are asked to gather between 12:30 and 1 on Sunday at the Methodist Church in Hopewell. A sandwich lunch will be passed out before the walk, which will end at Washington Crossing State Park.

Participants should obtain walk forms and pledges before the walk on Sunday. For information in Princeton call Jeff Wright, 452-1651.

For the Hopewell Valley walk, call Burt Parry, 466-

BUSINESS In Princeton

TWENTY NASSAU SOLD
To Princeton Couple. Twenty Nassau Street, a building that has a long and curious history, as far as buildings are concerned, was sold Monday to Mr. and Mrs. Stephen M. Vuglen of the Brunswick Pike. The Vuglens have been quietly involved in Princeton real estate ventures for the past several years.

The selling price of the building was not disclosed, but the building's last assessment, in 1964, was set at $862,000. Its value has increased since then, although not by nearly as much as some other Princeton properties.

Representing the Vuglens in the transaction was Adlerman, Click & Co. The sellers, known as the Twenty Nassau Corporation, were represented by Edmund Cook & Co., which had also served as the managing agent of the building. The Vuglens are expected to provide their own management of the building, which has seven storefront, commercial tenants, and about 100 offices off the street.

The building last changed hands in 1960, when it was purchased by Twenty Nassau Corporation, a syndicate consisting of Princeton doctors Elwood Godfrey and Henry Abrams and an out-of-town corporation, plus a small share belonging to Edmund Cook, who formed the syndicate.

The seller in 1960 was Educational Testing Service, which began its operations in the building back in 1948. ETS moved to its present location on Rosedale Road in the late 1950s, after it had grown out of the facilities at 20 Nassau.

Home of the S.A.T. Before that, the building was owned in large part by Princeton University, which used it for faculty office space, and the College Entrance Examination Board.

One of the professors who worked there was Carl C. Brigham, a psychologist, who was hired by the College Board in the 1920s to devise the Scholastic Aptitude Test. He did so and his research efforts eventually became the research office of the College Board. When the College Board and two other groups founded ETS the new organization was located in the old research office at 20 Nassau Street.

The company that built 20 Nassau Street in the mid-'20s immediately went into bankruptcy. Later, the architect for the building, which contains an unusual amount of blind space, that is rooms without windows, was rumored to have committed suicide.

Twenty Nassau occupies 90 feet on Nassau Street and 247 feet on Chambers Street, its longest side. It is five stories high on Nassau Street, but not that high on Chambers Street. The total square footage is about 51,000.

DUTCH FIRM HERE

Opens Princeton Office. Paktank V.V., the world's largest independent operator of petroleum and chemical terminal facilities, has announced the opening of a new U.S. headquarters in Princeton, to coordinate its expanding American operations.

Located at 188 Nassau Street, the office will be headed by Arie de Beus, President of Paktank USA. Mr. de Beus, a Dutch national, has just moved to 630 Lake Drive from Hamburg, West Germany, where he was managing director of Paktank's German operations. With him are his wife, Hermi, his 3-year old son, Gys, and his 5-month old daughter, Lotta.

"We are already constructing a $12 million first-phase terminal in Paulsboro in a joint venture operation," explained Mr. de Beus, "and we have installations in the development stage in eight other locations in the United States and Caribbean. We expect our investment to reach $250 million in the next few years. The Princeton office will be the headquarters for a small management group that will coordinate our entire U.S. program."

Existing Paktank storage capacity outside the United States totals over 40 million barrels, located in eight terminals in its native Holland, plus 12 in Sweden, Germany, England and Northern Ireland. In Princeton, Mr. de Beus will be assisted by Aad de Monchy, who has recently been appointed President of Paktank Development (North America) Inc., and by Wood Tate, newly appointed Paktank vice president for technical operations. Mr. de Monchy, a Dutch national, has been a Princeton resident for two years, and has worked for Paktank and its sister companies almost continuously since 1961. Mr. Tate, a Princeton resident since 1968, also is serving on the Joint Princeton Consolidation Committee.

"The Results," He Said, "Were Fantastic!"

MARGO COME HOME. I miss you, the children miss you. Why can't you leave the High Button Shoe Antique Center in Rocky Hill? Just because their bargains are so numerous and because you have 8 separate shops to choose from? Is that any reason for leaving your husband and 12 children?

It's the kind of an ad that does achieve readership, but the results aren't there unless the readers find it. Find it they did—down at the bottom of a page of TOWN TOPICS, which has provided readers with a mixture of interesting information and frequent humor in its classified pages for nearly 30 years. The man said the results were "fantastic."

You can get results for your ads here, too, for as little as $2 for the first 20 words and a mere three cents a word thereafter. Lowest price in town, too, but far and away your best bet. Just call 924-2200 any week day from 9 to 5. Deadline each week, Tuesday afternoon.

LAWN SALE: Antiques, much silver, china, glass, clothes, furniture including girl's white French bedroom. Large variety Lawrenceville Road at 51 mile marker. 10-5 and 10-6 from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

PEUGEOT: Rare 1970 404 wagon. Automatic, am-fm, 26 miles per gallon, 57,000 miles. Service records. Asking $1600. Call 397-1643.

WHERE...
WHERE ELSE...
BUT AT COUNTRY ANTIQUES CAN YOU FIND

Large country farm table, turned legs and no stretchers. "Good honest piece of Americana." And what a relieve to find a table at which you may comfortably seat at least 8.

Some exciting new finds in silver. Our stock of New Jersey is slowly but firmly increasing of dinner spoons and sugar tongs from New Brunswick.

Some attractive hand hooked rugs. Why is it only dealers and the more sophisticated notice? Truly attractive forms of folk art.

An heirloom wedding dress from Lord and Taylor about the turn of the century. Heavy candlelight satin in perfect condition. Probably a size 5. A long detachable train and matching petticoat. Anyone should be proud to wear this superb dress.

For the ultimate in sophistication, one dozen silver lobster forks.

Major Issues Lacking in Quiet Township Race So Four Candidates Run on Personal Records

Individualism seems to keynote this year's Township Committee race. The two Republican candidates differ with one another on loop buses and "village" housing; the two Democrats agree with one another, but differ with a Democratic colleague on Committee where the bus system is concerned.

All four candidates see their own qualifications as more vital than any single issue in this singularly placid campaign year.

"The record, that's what I'm involved in," declares incumbent Democrat Margaret Broadwater. "The Democrats' basic concept is 'people'—low and middle income, but high-income, too, because they contribute like anyone else. I like to think long-term: the capital budget, for example, isn't a sexy thing to discuss, but to put money aside as you go along so you don't find yourself suddenly faced with rising taxes when you have to make a financial outlay is important."

"I have a management and business background," explains Republican John McGee, "and I feel this kind of management skill isn't represented on Committee. I have experience with a systems approach to planning and with new ways of doing business and the Township is indeed a 'business.'"

Experience Cited. "As a black and a pastor, I can bring needed diversity to Committee," says the Rev. Floyd Rhodes, Democratic candidate. "I am not a fiscal expert, but I have had considerable experience as a mediator and as a pastor, I've had political experience." "I have considerable familiarity with the ways boards and committees work and how ordinances operate, particularly those concerned with land use and zoning variances," explains Mrs. Duffy Hutter, Republican candidate. "I am concerned that prescribed procedures be followed and that correct, full information be in the hands of people making decisions. I feel very strongly about this."

No Township candidate reports the kind of apathy all Borough candidates have encountered among voters. But the two Republicans think more citizens should get involved in the community.

"When only a small group speaks out, Committee may think that's the general view," Mr. McGee observes.

"Long Committee sessions turn people off. Perhaps the agenda should be split, to make two shorter meetings instead of one long one," is Mrs. Hutter's comment.

Four Wheels. About that loop bus system...

"People talk to us about bus schedules and times of

DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATES: Margaret Broadwater, currently on Township Committee, would like to slay there. The Rev. Floyd Rhodes of Witherspoon Presbyterian Church is her running-mate on the Democratic ballot. Mrs. Broadwater is a teacher of American government and a doctoral candidate in constitutional law. Mr. Rhodes has worked with the Princeton Youth Center and the Black Caucus, as well as with the social concerns of his church.

running, and so on—not about has found, "except for one the cost," Mr. Rhodes says, of that's concrete—they don't voter reaction to the buses. like that!"

"None of us on Committee feel the solution is perfect," Mrs. Broadwater adds. "If this system is discontinued or changed—well, we've had experience. We had to give the system a chance for one more month. Ridership increased by one-third after the free week, then dropped. If it does that a few more weeks, then I get off!"

Mrs. Broadwater emphasizes that the town "should follow through with a commitment to provide transportation to the elderly."

"The bus system hasn't yet had a fair test," Mrs. Hutter, her opponent, believes. "It is very expensive, but I would like to see it go on. We have shown there is some kind of need—we must find the right combination of demand-response, like dial-a-ride, and fixed route."

"I don't see any citizen support at all," her running-mate, Mr. McGee, counters. "It doesn't answer a large enough percentage of the population. If it doesn't provide service and is expensive, I say it should be discontinued. We need better ways to provide mass transportation."

All four candidates think a municipal dispatch system for all public transportation, might provide an alternative.

Candidates not only support bike paths, but find citizens support them, too.

"Almost everyone seems to favor bike paths," Mr. Rhodes

REPUBLICAN CANDIDATES: It will be "Elizabeth" Hutter on the ballot, but it's "Duffy" everywhere else. Mrs. Hutter's Republican Township running mate is John McGee. Mrs. Hutter has been active for many years in environmental concerns. Mr. McGee, a five-year Princeton resident, works in data processing, management auditing and systems planning.

News Of The THEATRES

ORIGIN: PEKING
Chinese Opera, via Taiwan. The ancient art of Peking opera will be presented in Princeton for the first time on Monday, October 14 at 8, when the National Chinese Opera Theatre from Taipei, Taiwan, visits McCarter Theatre for a single performance.

The company of eighty singers, dancers, actors, musicians and acrobats will present excerpts from six classics of the literature: "The Slaying of Yen Liang," "The Jade Bracelet," "The White Serpent," "The Crossroad Inn," "Two Loyal Officials," and "The Monkey King." Chinese opera, now more than 3,000 years old, incorporates speech, song, mime, acrobatics, instrumental music—even baton twirling and ritual sword fighting.

The program's visual appeal lies in costumes that cannot be matched anywhere else. Most of them are replicas of clothing worn by emperors and ordinary citizens during the Ming Dynasty (1368-1644). Silk is the predominant fabric; even beggars wore it (but with patches). Monarchs always wore yellow gowns embroidered with dragons; women of higher classes wore long skirts concealing their feet. And anyone without a headdress was always presumed to be in great danger.

Peking opera was outlawed on mainland China in 1966, as part of Mao Tse-tung's Cultural Revolution. Under the direction of Mao's wife, it has been replaced with an unadorned, realistic style of opera that celebrates the struggle of workers, peasants and soldiers against landlords and imperialists.

Phyllis Papa, director and principal choreographer for the company and instructor at the Royal Ballet Centre in Trenton, has performed with the Princeton Ballet, the American Ballet Theatre and the Royal Danish Ballet Company in Copenhagen. While she was with the American Ballet Theatre, she was given special permission to appear with the Harkness Ballet as a guest artist for President Lyndon B. Johnson at the White House where she danced a ballet choreographed especially for her by Donald Saddler.

Cabaret. Let's take it right from the top. This is one of the best musicals ever made, and the fact that the film industry isn't making musicals anymore is all the more reason to see this musical tour de force with sensational performances by Liza Minnelli and Joel Grey.

The time is Berlin, 1931. Liza is electrifying as Sally Bowles, the young American girl with the green painted fingernails singing and dancing on the rim of the volcano that will become Nazi Germany. She is one of the denizens of the Kit Kat Klub, a cellar cabaret, who perform their sleazy routines for the delight of its decadent audience.

The cabaret show is presided over by Joel Grey, whose mocking mannequin face and mincing manners mirrors his audience. Director Bob Fosse has kept all the musical numbers from the New York Broadway show except one. With tremendous style and effectiveness, he cuts between the songs and dances to the hysteria and brutality outside. The musical numbers are brilliantly staged: the cabaret is the essence of decadence, transvestites and fading, fleshing girls. The film won the Academy Award as the best picture of 1972 and deservedly so.

Liza Minnelli captures the fakery, the enchantment and selfishness of Sally so perfectly that one can't help but wonder where the actress or the young woman starts or leaves off. In her musical numbers she is spellbinding. She makes "Mein Herr" and "Cabaret" so electrifying that those songs have become exclusively hers.

The film is a dazzling triumph for all concerned. "Cabaret" is decadent all right, but deliciously so. A powerful, sensuous musical experience.

PLAYHOUSE

Chinatown. A stylish, classy, ingeniously-plotted murder mystery set in Los Angeles of the '30s with Jack Nicholson as a private detective and Faye Dunaway as his mysterious employer, Chinatown is one of the best pictures of the year.

Nicholson is in top form, which means another outstanding performance, and Miss Dunaway is a fascinating mystery-woman. As directed by Roman Polanski, who plays a brief role as a sadistic hood in the film, Chinatown is steeped in the period and the style of the '30s. In many ways it resembles a realistic remake of The Maltese Falcon classic, but in its ultimate cynic ending—an unsatisfying ending and the weakest part of an otherwise solid achievement—the film is very much an expression of the 1970s.

The plot has many twists and those who leave for popcorn do so at their own risk. What begins as an apparent case of marital infidelity for Nicholson, who has spent some lean years on the Los Angeles police department's Chinatown beat where "Nothing's what it really seems to be," soon branches out to several murders, incest and a plot to divert a proposed dam project from drought-ridden L.A. to a mass of outlying orange groves that would make the connivers millionaires.

The meticulous detail of the 1930s is highly polished and down right beautiful. And the acting, especially Nicholson's and that of John Huston as the prime villain of the piece, is superb.

Anyone who thrilled to seeing Bogie as Sam Spade in Maltese Falcon will enjoy Chinatown as much—and Miss Dunaway is a lot more appealing and glamorous than Mary Astor.

In Princeton

MET STAR IN CONCERT
Will Open Concert Season.
The metropolitan Opera star Shirley Verrett will sing in Princeton on Monday at 8:30 in McCarter Theatre in this season's first concert of Series
II of the Princeton University Concerts.

Although billed as a mezzo-soprano, Miss Verrett is as much at home in the dramatic soprano field as in that of the mezzo-soprano and contralto.
Last fall, in the Metropolitan Opera's production of "Les Troyens," she became the first performer to sing both the soprano role of Cassandra and the mezzo-soprano role of Dido. Miss Verrett's other roles range from Carmen and Delilah to Queen Elizabeth in
"Maria Stuarda," and "La Favorita," from "Orfeo," Azucena and Amneris to Princess Eboli, Adalgisa in
"Norma" and Selika in
"L'Africaine."

Born in New Orleans, Miss Verrett grew up in Los Angeles. She began her

serious vocal studies in Hollywood with Anna Filitu, the former Met Opera soprano, and later became the pupil of Mme. Maria Szekely-Freschl at Juilliard.
Because of her outstanding scholastic record at Juilliard, she was accorded the rare privilege of arranging her program to be able to accept performing engagements
while working toward her degree. A favorite of the world's great conductors, she has appeared with most of the major American symphonies and, as a recitalist, is in demand all over the United States and abroad.

For her concert in Princeton, Miss Verrett will sing three arias by Pergolesi; two songs from Mahler's Des Knaben Wunderhorn, "Nicht wiedersehen!" and "Rheinlegendchen;" three spirituals (titles to be announced); a group of songs by Poulenc; "Wiegenlied," "Für funfzehn Pfennige," and "Befreit" by R. Strauss and
"Una voce poco fa" from
"Barber of Seville" by Rossini.

Tickets are on sale at McCarter Box Office and $2 student tickets may be purchased one hour before the concert, if they are available.

SOPRANO TO BE HEARD
In Concert Friday. The Friends of Music will present Ann S. Monoyios, soprano, in a concert on Friday at 8:30 at Woolworth Center. She will be accompanied by Christopher Reynolds, pianist, a graduate student in Musicology at Princeton. The concert is free and open to the public.

Ms. Monoyios has appeared in Princeton on numerous occasions, both in solo performances and as a member of the Glee Club and Musica Alta. She received her MFA from Princeton this year and is continuing her studies with Shirley Emmons in New York while embarking on a professional singing career.
For her program in Princeton, Ms. Monoyios will sing two song cycles: "Nuits d'ete" by Berlioz and "Frauenliebe und Leben" by Schumann and a group of Greek Folk Songs by Ravel.

PIANIST IN RECITAL
Sunday Afternoon. The Friends of Music at Princeton will present Cecilia A. Slater, pianist, in a recital on Sunday
at 3:30 in the Woolworth Center. The concert is free and open to the public.

A junior, majoring in chemistry, Miss Slater is from Spring Lake. She began her piano studies at the age of 6 and later studied with Marian Burke, concert pianist.

For three consecutive years
Miss Slater was first-place winner of a state-wide piano competition sponsored by the New Jersey Music Education Council. Subsequently, she performed at Carnegie Hall as winner of the competition.
Miss Slater is currently studying piano with Jerry Kuderna at Princeton University.

For her program, Miss
Slater will perform: Mozart:
Fantasia in C Minor;
Beethoven: Sonata in E-flat
Major, Opus 81a; Chopin:
Barenolle in F-sharp Major,
Opus 60, Three Etudes and Scherzo in C-sharp Minor, Opus 39.

BENEFIT CONCERT SET
For Woman's Place. A concert of chamber music will be presented by musicians from Westminster Choir College Tuesday, October 15, at 8 in the Nassau Presbyterian Church.

The concert, featuring the works of Georg Philipp Telemann, Johannes Brahms,
Charles Ives, Franz Liszt, and Otto Luening, is being organized by Barry Eisner to benefit the Woman's Place, located at 14½ Witherspoon Street. Tickets are not required but donations will be requested at the door.

Among the pieces to be performed are Luening's
"Suite for Soprano and Flute," with Judith Nicosia and Jayn Rosenfeld Siegel; Liszt's "Vallée d'Obermann," with pianist Talia Gulino;
"Five Songs" by Brahms; Telemann's "Partita in E Minor," with Lucille Har-dgrove on the recorder and Talia Gulino; and "Four Songs" by Charles Ives, with Judith Nicosia and George Bozarth.

IT'S NEW To Us

FURS PLAY BIG PART
...In Grannick's Clothes.
Although Michael Grannick incorporated designer clothing into his business 34 years ago, he was originally a furrier and even today furs remain an important part of his Lawrence Shopping Center store.

Mr. Grannick no longer makes his own coats, but he continues to select the pelts, create designs, make canvas fittings and supervise the actual construction. A large sampling of his furs is always in the store, including boas, bottle jackets, and currently a gorgeous lynx coat.

There are fun fur jackets of blue fox sides, raccoon sides and even one of black, white and brown mink tails trimmed with a raccoon collar and black leather, $150 and up.

Grannicks also has pants
coats and street length furs,

FOR FALL AT GRANNICKS: Little knit out-to-dinner dresses are timeless and once again a favorite at Grannicks. The pale silver green one with its gently gathered skirt and soft bow at the neckline held by Phoebe Nissim is representative of The Knit Group's fall collection, $90 to $138.

such as a double breasted azarine mink paw coat with a lynx collar, $1800. We especially liked a Russian sable paw coat with a fisher collar. It is handsomely tailored, double breasted and has a matching tie belt, $1500.

"The price of fur has skyrocketed", said Mr.
Grannick "and I can't replace these at this price." However, he does not intend to raise the prices on his current stock, which in addition to the coats includes some lovely hats. Our favorite was a wide brimmed almost white silver fox, $300.
Because of the high price of furs, many manufacturers did not make fur-trimmed clothing this year. However, Mr. Grannick has used his own pelts and had the manufacturers produce some coats, suits and sweaters.

Fur Trimmings. We saw a cabled cardigan sweater in a beige wool with a large pale fox collar, $244; a green wool wrap style jacket with a matching dyed lamb collar, $92; and a handsome salt and pepper tweed suit with black opossum collar and cuffs, $170.

Grannicks has an unusually large coat department which also includes fake furs, cloth coats, and raincoats by London Fog and Main Street.
Here we saw a lovely flame colored double knit wool coat with a notched collar and gold double breasted buttons, $130.

This is the year of the cape and Grannicks has a pure camel's hair one with topstitching detail, $160. The same cape is also available in a red or blue wool for $120.

Ever since 1940 when Mr.
Grannick added ready-to-wear clothing to his business, he has carried top lines, including many designers, and this year he is especially pleased with the suits of Harve Benard.

One of his designs is a superbly tailored black wool pantsuit set off by a bright red blouse and a red carnation on the lapel; and another has a big top grey wool wrap jacket teamed with grey slacks, blouse, turtleneck and even a string of beads, $238 and $278 respectively.

Suede Suit. We admired Joan Leslie's suit which teams a magenta big top jacket with a grey bias cut skirt and a long-sleeved magenta satin blouse, $230; and Jerry Feder's tan suede suit with its short jacket complete with stand-up collar and button cuffs topping a matching skirt and gold-toned satin blouse, $288.

Dresses are in vogue once again, and in general they are comfortable and easy-fitting.
Diane Von Furstenberg's acrylic shirtwaist is just such a dress, and the black and green pattern with splashes of red is not to be missed, $68.

Scarves are the big fashion accent for this fall, and Joan Leslie has added a long fringed one to her matching deep green tent dress, $82. We also noticed a scarf on a hronze pullover shirtdress in a jersey fabric that looked as if it would never wrinkle — perfect for packing, $78.

Grannicks is showing lots of black knee-length dinner and cocktail dresses, and our favorite was a bias-cut long sleeved knit. By The Knit Group, the dress is simply styled with great lines — the only trim being small rhinestone buttons on the sleeves and at the neck, $90.

Sequins and Beads. Among the long evening dresses sequins and beads appear to be popular. In fact by Marita there is long-sleeved high-necked green gown totally covered with sequins.

However, the most striking gowns were made of Don Luis' hand-screened fabrics. A black long-sleeved scoop-necked dress comes with a matching sleeveless coat and each has a deep border print of orange, lavender, white and brown flowers.

A more casual, although still very dressy, evening look are the ostrich trimmed evening pajamas in a gorgeous fabric of vanilla colored satin and crepe stripes, $160.

Accessories are an important part of Grannicks, and the jewelry collection is outstanding. We saw chains, pendants and belts (gold mesh stretch ones) by Kenneth Jay Lane and Anne Klein, and many Marcel Boucher watches. These watches are 17 jewel; have a one-year guarantee; and are extremely stylish, such as a square tortiseshell case set on a gold bracelet, $45 to $55.

The store also has a nice choice of leather purses, gold or silver evening bags, and shortly there will be crocheted and embroidered shawls for the holidays.

Grannicks, at the Lawrence Shopping Center, Route One, is open Monday through Friday from 10 to 9 and Saturdays from 10 to 5:30.

Party Tips with Cheese
Cheese will be a special commodity this week at Bon Appetit in the Princeton Shopping Center.
From Wednesday through Saturday a Danish cheese hostess from the Denmark Cheese Association will give frequent demonstrations on how to turn ordinary offerings of cheese at a party into attractive and unusual arrangements with a minimum of effort.

Samples of Danish cheeses will also be available so that shoppers can enjoy a taste of the many varieties and determine their own favorites. If the taste is not tempting enough, Bon Appetit is offering the further encouragement of a 20 cents per pound reduction on all of its Danish cheeses.

by Richard Strauss will be performed by Jean Thomas,

Unusual sounds which result from actions of the heart, are called murmurs. Some of the murmurs are referred to by physicians as innocent or functional murmurs. Heart sounds of this type may be normal for a given individual. Functional murmurs may be temporary conditions, which disappear after a time. Hypertension, which means high blood pressure, is the most common and most talked about of all conditions that may effect the heart. Cheer up! Many individuals have high blood pressure and still live to be old.

Bargain Day.

To the Editor of Town Topics: Everyone loves a bargain, everyone has an ego. For these two reasons, October 15 should be a good day for Princeton.

(1) That's the day we can buy a "new" High School - by repairing and renovating the old one - by voting for the bond issue which has been marked down from $6.25 million to $4.95 million. Considering rising costs we'd better do it now. It will cost more later.

(2) October 15 is the day we can vote to keep Princeton's High School among the best in the land - a source of strength and satisfaction for us all (not just for parents and children). By voting YES, we can maintain the value of our property and the quality of our town. Both depend so much upon the public schools.

So, for reasons of personal pride and pocketbook, I hope a good majority will approve the High School bond referendum on October 15.

Bye, Bye Princeton.

To Town Topics:

I'm a "ferriner"—from the Jersey shore. I came to Princeton today to shop and have lunch! With a two-hour parking limit, ridiculous!

Bye, bye Princeton—for me—and from the appearance of the town (which is no longer hospitable to out-of-towners) for a lot of other tourists, also.

So sorry.

it, but having recently been robbed and now this, I'm beginning to become very hostile towards people. Aren't children taught respect for other people's property anymore? I teach my children right here at home to respect each other's property. What do you say to them when someone is cruel enough to do something like this to them?

Well, I don't expect anything to be done. I'll just go buy the parts to get my son's bike fixed again. All I can say is that it's a sad town to live in any more. My home town!

A Broken Love Affair.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

My ten-year-old son came home from school today very upset because his 10-speed bicycle had been vandalized while chained to the bike rack at Littlebrook School. Two special screws from the gears had been stolen, one of which I had just replaced because it had been stolen last spring; his back tire had been punctured and the front tire loosened.

He said he reported it, but they said there was nothing they could do. I called the police and they were very sympathetic but there was nothing they could do either. They suggested I go to the school, which I intend to do.

I felt reasonably secure sending my children to Littlebrook, because I felt it was the best school in Princeton as far as the low rate of delinquency and vandalism. It's bad enough my two daughters are threatened and occasionally attacked in Princeton High School, I now have to worry about my 10-year-old and 5-year-old.

What is this town coming to? I was born and raised in Princeton and I always loved don't believe in a single type of development, like the proposed five-village clusters. It would alter the nature of the town too drastically. I'd like to see expansion of the PCI style of housing, or perhaps one village."

On the contrary, Mrs. Hutter likes the village concept. "But we must use tools like the flood-plain delineations of Harry's and Van Horne's Brook to determine the location, size and number of the nodes before we develop these regions as the housing master plan proposes. We oppose any further construction in the upper Harry's Brook watershed until problems below have been relieved. We can't allow developers to extract the last ounce of buildability from a site."

"We must have housing for middle incomes, the elderly and minorities," Mr. Rhodes believes. "Too many blacks are now being forced to leave, and young college kids end up in Ewing Township. Our black community is dwindling and may have vanished in 25 years."

Like Mr. McGee, Mr. Rhodes would like to see PCI-style housing in other parts of the Township.

"We must re-think the use of the rest of Township land, thinking of the needs of the elderly and the low-income," says Mrs. Broadwater. "Do we want only middle-aged, high-income people here? We should have a balanced community, and that includes real 'for profit' housing, as well."

Money. Which leads to taxes. A concern for everyone. "Our taxes have been fairly stable since re-assessment, and 'all holds are on!' We must spend every dime carefully," says Mrs. Broadwater, and Mr. Rhodes agrees.

Mrs. Broadwater favors only the most essential renovation for the high school because of the huge and looming sewer taxes that are ahead.

Mrs. Hutter wants a closer look at road reconstruction, not only for environmental reasons, but because money might better be spent elsewhere, perhaps on bike paths.

Mr. Rhodes tells voters he'd like to see an income-tax, as the most equitable way to raise money, and he raises the question of casino gambling as a fund-raiser: "I wouldn't condemn it, but I wouldn't campaign for it either," is his observation.

Mr. McGee says, "I'd like to maximize the kinds of services we get for our tax dollar."

Foursquare, the four candidates favor consolidation with the Borough. Most Township voters do, too, candidates find.

All candidates see a great deal of waste motion in the present division, and they seem to agree that a higher level of efficiency and service to the community would result.

That New Bus Schedule

The Loop "A" bus still begins at 8 a.m. and starts its final run of the day at 5 p.m., ending at Lawrence Apartments at 5:48.

The Loop "B" bus still starts at 9:30 a.m. and ends its final run of the day at 4:18.

New School-work bus schedules, now in effect from 8 a.m. to 8:41 a.m. for Loop "A" and from 2:30 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. for Loop "B" have led some passengers to think that the two loops operate only at those school-work hours.

Not so. The former day-long schedules for both loops are still in effect.

Bases Untouched. Speaking of the requirements in the zoning ordinance, Mr. Hutton said, "there are some bases which they haven't touched yet, so we've decided not to hear them."

An attorney for the Rouse company said that official notice from the Zoning Board hadn't been received, but that his impression was that the Zoning Board was legally required to hear the application, despite the Planning Board's recommendations.

Before the Zoning Board made its decision not to hold hearings, it had conferred with Rouse officials to establish possible dates for the hearings.

ROUSE MALL DELAYED

By Hopewell Planners. The Hopewell Township Planning Board last week released a nine-page report citing 16 reasons why the regional shopping mall proposed for Route 31 off the Pennington Circle does not conform to the Township's "regional shopping center" ordinance.

As a result, the Township Zoning Board announced that it would not hold any hearings on the $25 million, 191-acre mall proposal until the developer, the Rouse Company of Columbia, Maryland, satisfies all requirements set by the Planning Board. "We decided not to hear the application until they comply with the law," said Merton Hutton, chairman of the Zoning Board.

This development is seen as a major delay in the company's effort to construct the mall. The Planning Board's recommendations followed a series of long and sometimes heated public hearings on the mall in July and August.

The Planning Board said that Rouse had not submitted satisfactory supporting data for water and sewage systems and that the developer's solutions to traffic problems caused by the mall were inadequate. The Board also said Rouse had not complied with its requirements for evidence of performance and maintenance bonds.

Citizens at the public hearings this summer inquired about the impact of the mall, which would have a Sears & Roebuck and Strawbridge & Clothier as its main stores, on existing retail stores in the Pennington area. The Board recommended that Rouse "be required to demonstrate that it has made serious efforts to contact local merchants as possible tenants in the shopping area."

PARENTS DUES SATURDAY

For Day on Campus Here. Some 1200 parents of Members of Princeton University's Freshman class will be introduced to the University on Saturday.

After a welcoming by President William G. Bowen, the parents will be invited to participate in one of five panel discussions geared toward helping them understand their sons' and daughters' Princeton experience. Lunch with sons and daughters and an afternoon at Palmer Stadium watching the Princeton-Columbia football game will be followed by a reception at Princeton's Art Museum and a visit to the collections.

The panel discussions include such topics as: Living and Learning at Princeton; Engineering at Princeton; After the Bachelor's Degree, What?; Financial Aid at Princeton; and the Princeton Curriculum: Present and Future.

IRIS SHOW PLANNED

Sunday at Art Museum. The annual show of reblooming irises — which bloom in the spring and again in the fall — will be presented by the Garden State Iris Society from 1 to 4:30 Sunday at the McCormick Art Museum of Princeton University. The show is open to the public. Dr. Norman H. Noe, a physicist with Bell Laboratories in Whippany and a grower of fall blooming irises, will present an illustrated lecture on these flowers at 3.

It has long been known that several iris species produce flowers in the fall. Recently hybridizers have taken fall blooming species and cross-pollinated them with the best of the spring blooming types, producing numerous high-quality plants that bloom twice a year.

Several fall blooming iris varieties have been planted in the University's Prospect Garden. They will provide pleasing accents and add to the color produced by 3,000 chrysanthemums and other fall flowers in the garden.

Bid 'N Buy Auction at Rocky Hill Will Have Old-Time Country Fair Atmosphere Saturday

Rocky Hill's ninth annual fall fair and auction will be held Saturday from 10 to 5, rain or shine, on the baseball field on Washington Street.

This fund-raising fete benefits the Rocky Hill Community Group, which maintains a Center in a pre-Revolutionary house on Washington Street. The group funds the historic society, classes and many recreation programs throughout the year; and hopes to expand its facilities for recreation and education.

An aura of harvest time will prevail, courtesy of Cortelyou's Farm; the field will be festooned with pumpkins, bales of hay and cornstalks. Visitors can join the fun and frolic of the old time country fair, where they can participate in relay races, tug-of-wars, bubble gum blowing and pie eating contests, and watch out for Rocky Hill's very own medicine man, with an authentic, handed down pitch from Calgary, selling "that God-given, quick-acting, easy to take balm, Dr. Bokakiak's famous Elliptical Asiaticall Pendicural, Nervous Cordial and Rejuvenator. It makes hens lay more eggs, cows give more milk, and the butterflies more butter."

Children will be entertained throughout the day with a wide variety of activities. Bill Voelker, a young magician from East Windsor, will perform a magic show for children.

Ken Glucksberg, who has worked with his puppets in and around Princeton, will put on a show for 3-5 year olds. In addition to the contests and races there will be a Penny Candy Store, candied apples, pony rides, games of skill, and a selection of treasures at the White Elephant Table for Wee Ones. A raffle ticket will insure a chance to win one of two grand prize drawings. First prize is a Fuji 10-speed bicycle and second a Follis 10-speed bicycle.

There will be booths of handicrafts, food, plants, books, white elephants and Rocky Hill aprons. Last year's popular dried flower arrangements will again be available for early shoppers, and for those who are attracted by knitted and crocheted accessories, the handicraft booth is working hard to please.

Joanna Fiori will be selling her Montana Pots again this year. James W. Edwards will spend the day doing pastel portrait sketches.

The oldest band in New Jersey, the Blawenburg Band, will add flavor to the festivities. A different flavor will be provided by a refreshment booth where Italian meatball sandwiches, hot dogs, sandwiches, pickled eggs, soda, and coffee will be available throughout the day.

The Rocky Hill First Aid and Rescue Squad will demonstrate its apparatus and techniques, and the Rocky Hill Volunteer Fire Company will provide cotton candy, popcorn and even a hayride.

Under the big tent will be auctioneer Donald Warnock. There are some choice pieces of sterling silver, a brass headboard, pewter, a like-new Smith Corona adding machine, a window air conditioner, furnishings for any room in the house - or yard - including cane chairs, an old candlestand, rugs and lamps. Skis, bikes, trikes, dozens of new golf balls, frames, mirrors, a typing table, and donations of new merchandise will also be offered.

The Silent Auction, which pools people's talent, time, services and equipment and offers it to the highest bidder, is ready this year with more than 100 items. You may bid on a day of pleasure in a plane or in a pool, lessons in paddle tennis, piano, or a language, a tasty dish from any of the seven continents. Have a floor tiled, or hire the oldest band in New Jersey.

The Green Thumb booth will sell pumpkins, gourds, Indian corn, cut flowers and fresh garden product. The bulb selection will include tulips, daffodils and crocuses in a variety of colors, specially selected for our New Jersey climate.

ART In Princeton

FIRST EXHIBIT SET
By Friends of Art Museum.
A preview of the Princeton University Art Museum's exhibition "The Eads Bridge", on Saturday, October 12, from 8 to 11 p.m., will launch the season for the Friends of the Art Museum.

The event will also celebrate the reinstallation of the Museum's permanent collection in the main galleries. From December 1972 until June of this year, the galleries were filled with masterpieces on loan from the Norton Simon, Inc. Museum of Art.

Mrs. Carl Reimers, co-chairman with Mrs. Pieter Fisher for exhibit openings, is in charge of arrangements for the black-tie reception. Invitation or membership card will be required for admission. New members joining by Tuesday will receive invitations to this opening, the first of many programs scheduled for the coming year.

The Eads Bridge Exhibit is a cooperative effort of the Art Museum and the Department of Civil Engineering of the University. It observes the centennial of the great bridge over the Mississippi at St. Louis, designed and built by Capt. James Buchanan Eads. Opened on July 4, 1874, the landmark structure is still in use. It earned for St. Louis the title of "Gateway to the West", a theme repeated in Eero Saarinen's Gateway Arch providing dramatic contrast on the river bank near the bridge.

Decades ahead of its time, the Eads Bridge was the largest of any type built up to that time, the first major structure in the world built of steel, the first cantilevered bridge to rest on caissons sunk under pressure. It is a prime example of technical innovation producing a work of art.

The exhibit will consist of models, design drawings, prints and paintings of the bridge, and memorabilia associated with it.

Membership in the Friends of the Art Museum is open to all, with memberships beginning at $15 (single or family). Other categories are: supporting, $100, and patron $250. The Friends of the Art Museum support the Museum's exhibits, publications and acquisitions programs.

Mrs. Arthur Morgan is this year's membership chairman. Membership application forms are available at the Museum desk, or checks may be mailed to the Friends of the Art Museum, Princeton University.

NEW SEASON OPENS

At Squibb Gallery, "Fresh Beginnings," an exhibition of sculpture, paintings, drawings and collages by two young artists 9 and 11 years old, opened the season at Squibb Gallery Monday. It will run three weeks through October 18. The artists are Rana and Al Wilking, children of Ger and Don Wilking of Raritan.

Rana, 9, has been painting seriously since she was 5. Eleven-year-old Al started at 7. They have been taught by their parents who both painted when they were young, but never pursued art as a career. Both children paint large canvases, each with a definite individual style.

Squibb Gallery is located in the World Headquarters of E.R. Squibb & Sons on Route 206 three miles south of Princeton. Hours are 9 to 4:30 Monday through Friday.

TOUR TO TORONTO SET To View Chinese Exhibit.

The Exhibition of Archaeological Finds from the People's Republic of China, making its initial appearance in this hemisphere at the Royal Ontario Museum, will be the focus of the first of this season's series of art tours sponsored by the Friends of the Art Museum, Princeton University.

Reservations are now being accepted for the three-day trip to Toronto, Tuesday through Thursday, October 29 to 31. It will also include visits to Buffalo's Albright-Knox Gallery and the new Henry Moore wing of the Art Gallery of Ontario. Mrs. Charles H. Symington, Jr., co-chairman for art tours, is in charge of arrangements.

The group, limited to 40, will leave by special bus from the Princeton Shopping Center for a morning flight to Buffalo. An afternoon guided tour of the Albright-Knox Gallery will conclude with tea in the gallery.

The third oldest art museum in the country, the Albright-Knox is considered a model of the smaller museum. It is noted for its collection of abstract-expressionist paintings, and for its contemporary sculpture collection, ranked second only to that of the Museum of Modern Art. A retrospective exhibit of the work of Swiss graphic artist Max Bill will also be seen.

The entire second day will be devoted to the "Treasures of Chinese Art" show in Toronto's Royal Ontario

Museum, with advance booking guaranteeing no-wait admission, and leisurely and uncrowded viewing. This arrangement, by which ticket holders are permitted entry at specially reserved times, is unique to the Toronto Museum.

"The Chinese Exhibit," composed of objects excavated or recovered by the People's Republic since its founding in 1949, includes 385 artifacts selected from among 100,000 or more assembled in Peking. Hidden for 600 to 3500 years, they are being exhibited for the first time in this remarkable traveling show.

On Thursday, October 31, the group will tour the new Henry Moore wing of the Art Gallery of Toronto with the Museum's curator. The collection of 200 of Moore's works opens to the public on October 26.

The trip is open to anyone, but joining the Friends of the Art Museum is a prerequisite. Annual memberships start at $15, and new members joining during the October Membership Month will be able to participate in a full program of activities planned for the year.

The cost of the tour is $230 per person, and includes all transportation, two nights in Toronto's Park Plaza Hotel, all meals and fees, and a $25 tax-deductible contribution to the Princeton University Art Museum.

Checks for reservations, payable to the Friends of the Art Museum, Princeton University, should be sent promptly. Further information about the tour can be obtained by calling the Friends' office at the Museum (452-3762) between 10 and 4 weekdays.

Future Observatory Open Houses are scheduled for the evenings of November 7, December 6, February 5, March 20 and May 5. All programs will be held regardless of weather conditions. In the event of inclement weather the lecture will be given, but observing will depend on the status of the sky.

SPORTS FANS!

Brought to you
By John Bernard

Here's one of the strangest things that ever happened in a big-time football game. . . Did you know that a football once exploded during a game and caused a team to lose? . . . It happened in the 1929 Rose Bowl. . . Benny Lom of California punted from his own 9-yard line and his kick punctured the ball, all the air came out, and the ball collapsed on the 9. . . Georgia Tech took over there, scored a touchdown, and won the game 8-7.

Here's an oddity about the manager of the Cincinnati Reds, Sparky Anderson. . . He once had three different jobs in baseball in three days. . . On Oct. 6, 1969 he was a coach with the San Diego Padres. . . On Oct. 7, 1969 he was named coach of the California Angels. . . But on Oct. 8, 1969 he was offered, and accepted, the job as manager of the Cincinnati Reds!

One of the most unusual college football teams of all-time was the 1947 Miami of Ohio team. . . Playing on that team that year were four boys who all became nationally famous football coaches. . . On that team were Ara Parseghian, now coach at Notre Dame; Bo Schembechler, now coach at Michigan; Bill Arnsparger, now coach of the New York Giants; and Paul Dietzel, now coach at South Carolina.

Suppose you were in a bad auto accident and confined to the extensive care unit in a hospital for two months. Could you afford it? Probably not. With our new 100,000 excess Major Medical Policy, you just might.

Tigers Tie Rutgers, 6-6, But Lose Goal Posts And Possible Victory—Columbia Here Saturday

Frustrated by having to settle for a tie in a game it might have won, but buoyed by the manner in which it came from behind after a season in which fourth-quarter action had almost invariably been disastrous, Princeton's football team will face Columbia here Saturday in a wholly unfamiliar role. For the first time in three years, the Tigers are heavy favorites to win by a convincing margin.

Although largely outplayed last week by Rutgers, the Orange and Black had the staying power and the ability to drive 63 yards against the clock in the closing minutes for the touchdown that earned a 6-6 tie. When Walt Snickenberger shot through the right side of the line for the score after the Rutgers defense had gone for the fake to Bob Reid as the first man through, the Orange and Black was forced by the absence of goal posts to go for a two-point conversion. Ron Beible's pass, slightly overthrown, skipped off Bob Harding's fingers and the two teams settled for the first draw the series had known since it began in 1869.

While Princeton's rebuilding team and its partisans were understandably irritated by demolition of the goal posts by fans who poured out of the Rutgers stands with 2:05 to go, their action was totally predictable. Five years ago, at the centennial game at New Brunswick, Rutgers rooters tore down their own posts while the game was still in progress.

They have done it in succeeding years here; last fall, in fact, they even took down the posts on adjoining Frelinghuysen Field at the open end of the Stadium. This year, these posts were removed, but that was the lone precaution Princeton saw fit to take. There was no plan to protect the posts used for the game, and because the rule book specifically says that the home team is responsible for maintaining order during the game, the officials had no choice but to require Princeton to try for a two-point conversion.

Questionable Officiating. So hot a topic of conversation was removal of the goal posts prior to the game's end that far less than normal attention was paid to the highly-questionable decision by backfield judge Edward Miersch, Jr., which made Princeton's touchdown possible. The Tigers had, for a second or two, actually lost possession of the ball with some 40 seconds to go when Beible's pass to flanker back Bob Reid was incomplete.

Field judge Bernard Burke, Jr., closest to the play, merely signalled that the fourth-down pass had been dropped by the receiver, but Miersch, some 10 yards farther way, threw his yellow flag and called interference against Rutgers'

ROOM FOR A GRAND PIANO: Walt Snickenberger, second man through, wheeled easily into the Rutgers end zone for Princeton's tying touchdown after Bob Reid's fake into the line had drawn Scarlet defenders to him. Absence of goal posts then cost Tigers a shot at a 7-6 victory. (Bob Matthews Photo) cornerback Andy Farkas. His decision was a master stroke of good fortune for the Tigers who, to their credit, had the ability to capitalize on it with just 22 seconds left.

So much trouble did Princeton's offense have penetrating a Rutgers defense that had yielded 34 points to Yale in a mid-September scrimmage that the Tigers never got beyond the visitors' 40 until they launched their final drive. In the scoreless first half, the home team managed just 53 yards total offense (compared to Rutgers' 182), the Scarlet twice coming close enough for field goal attempts that did not succeed.

SPORTS In Princeton

But, sharp in contrast to last fall, when the roof generally flattened the Tigers' lair in the second half, this time the Orange and Black improved as the game progressed. In the final two periods, Princeton outgained the opposition, 153 to 98, completed eight of 14 passes to none of three for Rutgers, and managed the only touchdown scored from scrimmage.

Punt Return Goes 94 Yards
The Scarlet's lead was established on a magnificent 94-yard punt return engineered by safety Tony Pawlik, who broke a couple of early tackles and then shed the last Tiger defender at the Princeton 27. The fact that it was, of course, the Princeton offensive unit through which he ran left the Tiger defense unscored on for the day, an encouraging sign in comparison with the 39 points the Scarlet hung on the board here last fall.

Captain Tom Schalch, a 240-lb. defensive tackle, gave a topflight performance all day. So did middle guard Jim Williamson, linebackers Bruce Schirmer and Ken Frederick, and cornerbacks Tom Palmer and Glen Pratt, the latter making a no-gain stop on Rutgers' quarterback Bert Kosup late in the fourth quarter to give Princeton the possession that set its touchdown drive in motion.

Offensively, Snickenberger had a day that got him off to a solid start in his quest to top 1,000 yards when he ran for 113, but he placed second in this respect to sophomore Curt Edwards of Rutgers, with 139.

Two Days Later, Referee Finally Agrees: Posts Could Have Been Held in Position

It turns out that if Referee Tom Elliott had understood what Coach Bob Casciola was trying to tell him, Princeton would have gotten a chance to kick the extra point Saturday.

When the Tigers scored with 22 seconds left, Casciola asked permission to walk out on the field and discuss the matter of the missing posts with Elliott. To reinforce his position that posts were available, Casciola had his kicking team on the field, too.

Elliott said that he denied requests that (1) a discretionary extra point be awarded and (2) that Scott Morrison, the Princeton specialist, be allowed to kick through imaginary posts. He then turned down Casciola's suggestion that an extra set be provided, "because I thought he meant erecting them on the field."

Forty-eight hours after the rhubarb in the Stadium had ended, Elliott told The New York Times that "I'd have allowed two or four guys to hold up goal posts if I'd known they were handy."

As a result of the incident, believed to be almost as historic a first in intercollegiate football as the initial Rutgers-Princeton game was in 1869, the Eastern College Athletic Conference will now require the home team to have an extra set of posts handy. Commissioner Robert Whitelaw plans to recommend the step as an actual rules change to the NCAA, and David Nelson of Delaware, NCAA secretary, agreed to such logic.

Princeton is responsible for at least one other rules change in football history. In 1911, Sam White drop-kicked a ball in the Yale game that bounced along the ground and then hopped over the cross bar. It won the game for the Orange and Black, but the ensuing uproar resulted in a decision that the ball must henceforth remain in flight to earn three points.

Beble was a statistically-satisfactory 13 for 25 passing, but his completions averaged less than six yards apiece and he tended to overthrow anything upwards of a dozen to 15 yards.

Princeton's kicking game gave promise of distinct brightness. Sophomore Mike Stein, who likes the feel of cool wet grass on a muggy day, went barefooted with his kicking foot and punted ten times for 37 yards, often with good results. Scott Morrison, the placekicker, averaged 60 yards on his two kickoffs, and has to be the saddest of all about the demolished goal posts, because he was an odds-on bet to have given the Tigers a 7-6 victory.

QUICK LOOK AT COLUMBIA

OFFENSE: Impoverished Heavy graduation losses, traditional lack of depth combine to make Lions weakest team in Ivy League. Major exception is All-Ivy end Mike Telep, a spotlight pass receiver.

DEFENSE: Better than offense, but still sure to be overmatched virtually every Saturday.

CHIEF ASSET: His name is Telep, bolstered by a few others who have above-average ability. New spirit provided by capable new coach Bill Campbell helpful but inadequate in face of numerous shortages.

CHIEF PROBLEM: Recruiting. Lions manage a solid entering class about every six to eight years.

TYPE OF ATTACK: Multiple T

Washington Bullets scoring an easy, 111-97 win. A crowd of about 3,000 turned out for the exhibition season opener, which was to benefit the Princeton Area United Community Fund.

The Bullets, paced by former Knick Mike Riordan and forward Elvin Hayes, scored 42 points in the third period to turn a one-point halftime advantage into a 88-71 score entering the final period. Riordan finished with 23 and Hayes scored 19.

The Knicks showed some life in the second quarter, rallying to trail 46-45 after being down by as much as 12 points early in the game. But the absence of the big men who had led the Knicks to championships in recent years seemed to tell in the second half. Hawthorne Wingo, of all people, led the Knicks' scoring effort with 12.

Bill Bradley, who many people expected to be running for Congress rather than up and down the basketball court, scored 10 points in his second return to the Princeton campus. Last year the Knicks played the Atlanta Hawks in a similar exhibition.

GOLF FINAL SATURDAY
At Springdale. Harold Crane and Bill Millman will play an 18-hole match Saturday for the President's Cup at Springdale Golf Club. A 5-handicap golfer, Millman will give away 13 strokes.

Despite last Saturday's rain, the semi-final matches were held. Millman eliminated John Miles, 3 and 2, while Crane was a 7-and-5 victor over Chuck Austin.

Debbie Shillaber defeated Dolores Allaire, 2 and 1, last week in the finals of the Springdale Women's Fall Handicap Tournament.

Earlier she had defeated Lou Millman and Mrs. Allaire won from Josie Hall to reach the finals. The last golf luncheon will be held October 22.

COLUMBIA IN TROUBLE
Lions on Way Down. After three years of dominance in its rivalry with Princeton, during which its Class of 1974 enjoyed two victories and a tie against an opponent it had last defeated in 1945, Columbia appears once again to be badly overmatched. The Lions' total margin in the pair of triumphs they managed was just three points (22-20 and last year's 14-13 decision sandwiched around a scoreless tie), but it sufficed to erase memories of the long drought that lasted more than a quarter-century.

Despite the fact that they lost only eight regulars and have 14 returning, the New Yorkers are an odds-on choice to replace Princeton in the Ivy League cellar. They were 1-7-1 last fall, topping the Tigers in the final standings by virtue of that one-point decision. Now, they are on the way down and Princeton is ready to move—if slowly—in the other direction.

Sophomore Joe Rios, is the new quarterback, but is not cut from the cloth of his various predecessors, most recently Don Jackson and Marty Domres, the latter now with the Baltimore Colts. Split end Mike Telep, an All-Ivy choice as a junior, is a major asset and probable pro prospect, and tailback Doug Jackson has a reputation as a specialist on kick returns. Rudy Gisolfi, whose two conversions last year made the difference, will also go for field goals if the Lions come within range.

Columbia was shut out in its rain-drenched opener, 15-0 by Lafayette, which was playing its third game but had lost its first two. The Lions fumbled nine times, three of the misplays costing eight points in the form of a safety and two field goals.

On mud-caked turf, they were held to 17 yards rushing, but Lafayette gained 202, and like the man says, it was just as wet on both sides of the field.

PDS TOPS ENGLEWOOD

To Face Montclair. Princeton Day School will put its strong running game, and its hopes for a New Jersey prep school state title, on the line this Saturday against a defensive-minded team from Montclair Academy.

PDS evened its record last week by defeating the Englewood School, 16-0, behind a 14-point performance by tailback Bill Martin. Montclair played Sussex Tech in a driving rainstorm Saturday and lost, 8-3. The Panthers will play at Montclair, Saturday at 1.

The Princeton Day running attack, centered almost solely on Martin in the opening-week loss, began to develop last week. Martin, a 195-pound junior, once again was the mainstay for PDS, rushing for 197 yards on 24 carries, and scoring touchdowns on dashes of 47 and 11 yards in the second half. He also carried the ball in for a two-point conversion.

But Coach John Boneparth was pleased with the emergence of a 175-pound freshman, Bob Olsson, who alternated at fullback with Lee Schley. Olsson gained 56 yards in seven carries; Schley was 5 for 15. Keith Thomas, who sprained a knee and is doubtful against Montclair, ended the day with 27 yards on three carries.

"Our offensive line really came alive," said Boneparth. He credited the entire line from end to end, Mike Young, Len Williams, Scott Ware, Jay Trubee, Sean Ellsworth and Ralph Brown, for the blocking work that sprung Martin loose in the enemy backfield. "Both of his touchdown runs started off tackle and he broke to the outside when he was through the line," said Boneparth.

Four Fumbles. PDS dominated the game statistically, but lost scoring opportunities in the first half by giving up four fumbles to the visitors—including one on the one-yard line. "Part of it could be attributable to a new quarterback," said Boneparth. "Part was just faulty running."

The new quarterback was Mark Blaxill, the replacement for Frank Konstantynowicz, who suffered a broken ankle in the season opener. Blaxill was 3-for-3 for 12 yards also flipped a two-point conversion pass to tight end Ralph Brown.

"Our defense was very aggressive. It really penetrated," said Boneparth, who singled out the efforts of Trubee and Blaxill. "We'll have to keep that up against Montclair."

LaFOUNTAIN 4 FOR 5

In Laser Races. Tad LaFountain won four of five races Sunday to dominate the Laser fleet on Carnegie Lake in races sailed in strong, shifty winds. A thunderstorm forced cancellation of the last race.

Peter Bordes placed second to LaFountain and Ed Metcalf third. In the Sunfish fleet, Brewster Young won top honors, followed by Walt Gibson and Tom Huntington.

HUN EDGES NEWARK

For Opening Grid Win. The Hun School football team made a first period touchdown by quarterback John Cirelli and extra-point conversion by fullback Ernie Barbiero stand up for the rest of the game to edge visiting Newark Academy Saturday, 7-6. It was the first opening win for Hun in several years.

Hun will try to make it number two and surpass last year's victory total when it travels to Middletown, Del., Saturday for a contest with St. Andrew's, a newcomer on the Hun schedule. Hun coach Dave Leete reported that he knows very little about the Delaware squad other than it has already lost a couple of games this season.

Nick Brady set up Hun's lone score when he intercepted a pass on the Newark 41, his first of two thefts for the day. Cirelli capped the drive by scoring from ten yards out.

Hun threatened once more in the first half when it drove to the Newark 6-yard line, but a penalty on the previous play and subsequent penalties drove the Red and Black backwards.

Offensively, Hun was led by halfback Terry Ewen of Princeton who galloped 98 yards in 15 carries and by Barbiero, the former Ewing fullback, who had 41 yards in eight carries. Barbiero, Leete said, had a consistent day both on offense and defense where he plays linebacker.

Defensively, Leete cited Lonnie Cathel, Kevin Rafalski for their play and the interceptions of Brady and Cirelli. All three interceptions, he said, stopped potential Newark drives.

The visitors finally scored with two minutes left in the game on an 11-yard pass. Newark then went for the win by going for a two-point conversion but its running play failed. Earlier, Newark had "dropped some passes which helped us," commented Leete.

Princeton High Looks Forward to Home Opener Against Ewing after 34-12 Upset of Hamilton

Playing flawless football in the first half when it scored three times, the Princeton High School football team went on to add two more touchdowns Saturday to upset highly-favored Hamilton, 34-12. The home team Hornets had been ranked 19th among all state teams prior to the kickoff.

Chief architect of the big win was PHS quarterback Pete Watson, who had himself quite an afternoon. Pete passed for touchdowns of 67 and 36 yards, scored one himself and intercepted two passes, the second of which set up Princeton's final score. In the decisive first half, he was 4-for-4 for 167 yards.

Sharing in the honors was halfback Tommy Thomas, who raced 55 yards for Princeton's fourth score—the one that broke the spirit of Hamilton's comeback bid. He was also on the receiving end of Watson's 67-yard scoring strike.

Steve Tomlinson, the Little Tigers' outstanding end, caught a 36-yard TD pass and kicked four of five extra points. His second effort was blocked. Robert Wood tallied Princeton's fifth touchdown when he squirted over from five yards out.

It was a dramatic debut for PHS coach Jim Beachell, who had detected a weakness in the Hamilton defensive secondary from scrimmage reports and exploited it to game. Give credit to all my perfection. "When you heat a team ranked 19th in the state, it's a big step this early in the season," commented a recovered by John Costas, led jubilant Beachell. "We really put it all together."

Home Opener Saturday. Off the Home team last all three its impressive win over fumbles in the first half to Hamilton, PHS has to rate as keep itself untracked. the favorite in its home opener this Saturday against Ewing. Kickoff is 11 a.m.

Ewing won its first game last week when it overcame an early 2-0 St. Anthony lead to win, 18-2. Fumbles and penalties proved to be costly for the Iron Mikes. If Ewing the field untouched, holding for the Iron Mikes. he crossed the goal line. The fense, which in four pre-play covered 67 yards. season games managed to produce just one touchdown.

The Bomb Early. PHS Follback Eric Ziolkowski got kicked off, and after a series of plays, forced Hamilton to punt, Dave Lion returning the kick to the PHS 47. On the first play from scrimmage, Watson stepped back and lofted a strike to Tomlinson who was finally pulled down on the two. Three plays later, with 5:49 left in the first period, Watson bucked over from the one-foot line.

"We knew they were weak defensively in the backfield and we planned to come out throwing," commented Beachell after the game. "We threw the bomb to test them early." He added: "We think we have the finest quarterback in the county."

Beachell reported that PHS had planned to open up right from the start. "We felt if we could gain the momentum, we could keep McEvoy (Hamilton coach Bill McEvoy) from establishing his running reports and exploited it to game. Give credit to all my perfection. "When you heat a team ranked 19th in the state, it's a big step this early in the season," commented a recovered by John Costas, led jubilant Beachell. "We really put it all together."

In the second period, two Hamilton fumbles, both recovered by John Costas, led to PHS scores. Ray Brower had recovered another Hornet fumble in the first period as Watson hit Thomas all alone on the sidelines. A speedster, Thomas cut back to his right and raced down the center of the field untouched, holding for the Iron Mikes. he crossed the goal line. The fense, which in four pre-play covered 67 yards. season games managed to produce just one touchdown.

Three plays later, after Costas's first recovery, Watson hit Thomas all alone on the sidelines. A speedster, Thomas cut back to his right and raced down the center of the field untouched, holding for the Iron Mikes. he crossed the goal line. The fense, which in four pre-play covered 67 yards. season games managed to produce just one touchdown.

Costas's second recovery was on the PHS 38. Thomas, in two plays, carried to the 50. Follback Eric Ziolkowski got another first down on the 35. Then, following a big loss by Watson trying to pass and a face mask penalty against Hamilton on the same play, Watson threw for the fourth time to Tomlinson from the 36. Tomlinson carried the ball over with 47 seconds left in the half.

PHS has scored every time it had the ball but once in the first half. At the same time, the PHS secondary of Watson, Lion and John Madden had limited Hamilton to one completion in three attempts.

Hamilton Comes To Life. The home team came to life in the third period when it took advantage of Princeton's first mistake. The PHS backfield manhandles the snapback and Hamilton recovered on the Little Tiger 41. In four plays Hamilton scored. Rich Branch, the Hornet's burly fullback, getting the last 21 on a burst off tackle. A running play for the two-point conversion was stopped. In the same period Tom Whitehair recovered another fumble by Princeton but the Blue and White got the ball back again on a Watson interception of a Lonnie Upshur pass. PHS later got a break when a clipping penalty moved Alex Kinnan's punt from his own end zone back to midfield. However, on the very next play, halfback Fred Harris outran the PHS team including Madden, the last defender to have a shot at him, to bring Hamilton within one touchdown. Harris's romp covered 52 yards. It seemed as if Hamilton still had enough time—6:49—to wear PHS down with its punishing running attack.

It wasn't to be. PHS grabbed Hamilton's onside kick attempt on its own 45. On the next play, Thomas, sprung by key blocks from Robbie McPherson and Ziolkowski, sprinted down the sidelines to the end zone. From the way McEvoy held his head in anguish across the field, it was clear this was the final nail in Hamilton's defeat.

"We wanted to score three touchdowns if we could; we didn't expect to go as high as we did," said Beachell after the game.

Princeton's defensive unit received support all day from

Tennis Tournament Here

Defending champion Princeton University heads the field in the annual ECAC Division I Tennis Tournament scheduled here Friday through Sunday.

A total of 20 teams are entered in the tourney, which includes three levels of competition. The number one and two singles players from each school will compete in Division A, the 3-4 performers in Division B and 5-6 players in Division C. The same format will apply in doubles.

Other pre-tournament favorites besides Princeton, include Pennsylvania, Columbia, Harvard and Navy. Play will begin on Friday morning at 9, with the finals scheduled for Sunday afternoon. If rain interferes, matches will move into Jadwin Gym.

tackles Pete Soderman and Ray Brower, from end Jeff Benfer and Costas Kinnan. Pete Barnett and Ziolkowski excelled as linebackers. The offensive line, which did the job in the first half, consisted of 260-pound Mike Michaels, Soderman, Kinnan, Tomlinson, Madden and Tyler Jones.

Watson returned his second interception 35 yards to the five. Asked about the risk in having Watson also play defense, Beachell replied that he is experimenting with some other players at safety but Watson will play until he is satisfied he has a replacement.

In the waning moments of the game, McPherson intercepted Upshur for the third time in the second half. Upshur was only able to complete one pass against the ball-hawking PHS defense.

Hamilton outrushed Princeton 220 yards to 92. But aside from the third period when the defense let Hamilton get to Watson, Princeton had its game together. Hamilton never did.

WEST WINDSOR IS LOSER

In Football Debut, 22-13. It wasn't so much a game lost as one the West Windsor football team let get away.

Making its varsity football debut under coach Rex Walker, the school lost, 22-13 Saturday to North Brunswick which was also playing its first varsity game. Both West Windsor scores came on long runs by halfback Rich Wilson.

Wilson scored the game's first TD in the second period on a 75-yard run and tallied again in the final period with six minutes left when he returned a kickoff 90 yards. He had 138 yards rushing in ten carries plus that kickoff return for an outstanding performance.

Next the Pirates will travel to Point Pleasant Saturday for a 2 p.m. contest. The shore eleven won its opener last week, 18-0.

"We should be able to play loose," said Walker about the upcoming match. "We have a situation where we have everything to gain (playing against an established team) and nothing to lose." He continued that he felt his team was understandably tense for the opening game, although, he agreed, the same could be said for North Brunswick.

The defense did a good job, reported Walker in the opener, but mistakes hurt the home team. For example: four lost fumbles, one on its own three-yard line that set up an easy score for North Brunswick's second TD; 50 yards in key penalties, one of which nullified a 20-yard scoring pass that would have regained the lead for West Windsor, and a series of busted plays.

The defense, in turn, which Walker said "was on the field all afternoon," limited North Brunswick to less than three yards average per carry, while West Windsor, when it had the ball, averaged 8.6.

"If there weren't any bright spots, we would feel depressed," commented Walker, but he added he could point to at least three or four. One was a good kicking game by Rich Malacrea, who averaged 41 yards in four punts, including a gigantic 71-yarder that got his teammates out of a hole. Two, the defensive play of the entire squad and, three, the running of Wilson.

PHS GIRLS WIN, TIE

In Field Hockey. The Princeton High School girls' field hockey team has split its first two games, defeating North Hunterdon Friday, 3-2, and tying Allentown in its opener earlier, 2-2.

Captain Sue Wright scored twice against Hunterdon, her second and game-winning goal coming with 10 seconds left to play. Michele Muri added the other PHS goal. Coach Joyce Jones singled out Amy Shillaber and goalie Meg Valentine for their defensive play.

Kristin Nelson and Sue Wright scored the PHS goals in the tie with Allentown, while Claire Johnston excelled on defense.

IVY INN TRIUMPHS

In Flag Football. Bruce Sandvik broke a scoreless tie with an 80-yard pass play to Tony Bocciafuso and a two-point pass conversion to lead Ivy Inn to an 8-6 victory over JoJo's in Mercer County Flag Football League action. Ivy is now 1-2 and has a chance to even its record this Sunday at 10:45 against Joe and Lena's at Lawrence High School.

JoJo's was held scoreless until the fourth quarter and Ivy was able to maintain its lead by breaking up the pass play for the extra points.

After Ivy was unable to move the ball on offense, Jeff Lowe pinned JoJo's deep in its own territory with a 50-yard punt. Joe Cimerola erased any chance of a last-minute comeback by intercepting a JoJo's pass.
